

PRESIDENT SIGNS 15-CRUISER BILL

MORAL POWER WILL HELP TO CHECK LOANS

Senate's Inquiry Not Likely to Produce Immediate Tangible Results
SHOWS NEED FOR ACTION

Resolution Helps Focus Attention on Hypothetical Restrictive Measures

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1929, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—Senate inquiry into the possibilities of legislation to restrict the use of borrowed funds for speculative purposes, it is conceded, will have a moral effect, but hardly any tangible results at this time.
The fact that the senate did act,
however, is considered a justification for the warning issued by the Federal Reserve board which has been criticized in some quarters for meddling in the speculative situation.
The idea that unless the board did issue some warning there would be action by the senate, has been current for several days and hence the statement by the board was considered as for forestalling legislation.
The Heflin resolution, on the other hand, does not compel the taking of any legislative steps at this time but merely assists the reserve board by asking for its opinions and thus focusing attention on restrictive measures of a hypothetical character, something which might in itself furnish a corrective influence.
Senator Glass of Virginia, Democrat, and a former secretary of the treasury, feels that the Federal reserve board should be commended for its effort to break down the speculative tendency though he thinks the move should have been made some time ago.

INQUIRY BY HOUSE

Action by the house is also comtemplated though there the investigation, it is indicated, might include investment trusts as well as every other concentration of funds in the call money market.
In brief, there has been an interesting reaction here somewhat analogous to the split which prompted the "money trust" investigation of Pujo fame 16 years ago. Congress has been watching the large operations in the stock market with a feeling that as long as business itself was not affected it was of no concern to the legislative body. But the words of the Federal Reserve board ringing in their ears telling the members of congress of the dangers to commercial credit users the disposition of both senate and house is to investigate.
When all the investigating has been finished, however, it is unlikely that there will be any legislation except possibly some broadening of the powers of the Federal Reserve board. There is no real thought that constitutional legislation could be passed which would directly curspeculation. It is only through indirect means that the quantity of borrowing for speculation will be reduced.

100 CALLS FOR HELP FROM ICE-BOUND SHIPS

Most—(AP)—It is stated here that about 100 calls for help have been received from vessels frozen fast in the ice in various parts of the Baltic sea. At the request of shipowners the Soviet ice-breakers at Leningrad are being prepared to start on a relief expedition.

MAN IS FOUND DEAD IN LUMBER FIRM BUILDING

Rib Falls—(AP)—Joseph Banie, 60, town of Cassell, Marathon co., was found dead late Tuesday in a building here belonging to the Wausau Lumber company of which he was caretaker. The body was frozen and had been in the cold building since early the night before, according to the coroner, who declared that because of the condition of the body at the time, he was unable to determine the cause of death.

Lindy Lands In Florida—Mum On Betrothal

Is Back In U. S. After Mail Flight

Noted Aviator Completes Round Voyage Opening
Panama Mail Service

Miami, Fla.—(AP)—With the same air of unconcern that has marked all his exploits of the air Col.
Charles A. Lindbergh closed another page of history Wednesday when he landed here, ending his flight from Panama with the mail.
Characteristically, the sly Lindbergh still declined to discuss the new page before him—his forthcoming marriage to Miss Anna Morrow, daughter of the American ambassador to Mexico, which was announced Tuesday night in Mexico City.
When the wheels of his amphibian plane touched Floridian soil at 9:58 Wednesday morning, the colonel rounded out an airmail chain linking the two Americas and clipping from three to twelve days from the old sailing time.
Lindbergh said he would not be able to announce plans for his departure until late in the day, but that he will probably stay here Wednesday night. He said he would have to be in Washington in a few days, prior to starting an aerial survey of the trans-continental route from New York to San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Asked concerning plans for his marriage, the colonel said:
"Have you any other questions to ask?" That was his only response to the inquiry.

MAKES NO COMMENT

Havana—(AP)—Curiosity was aroused Wednesday as to whether Col. Charles A. Lindbergh would fly to Mexico City to visit his fiancée, Miss Anna Morrow.

A laconic statement "I will confine my remarks to aviation," was all Colonel Lindbergh had to say about his engagement.

It was a much delayed Lindbergh who reached Havana late Tuesday night. He had been in the air for 33 hours, 21 minutes and 23 seconds.
Friends had believed he would arrive here as early as 1:45 in the afternoon and a crowd, including United States Ambassador Noble Judah and Mrs. Judah, waited for hours for him there.

Anxiety was displayed later when word came of a landing far from La Fe, Cuba, about 100 miles east of here; he himself arrived at Columbia Air field at 7:48 in the evening.

Word of his engagement had preceded him and he apparently knew it. He jumped from the cockpit or

GROCERY, MEAT STORE IS WRECKED BY BOMB

Kenosha—(AP)—A combination grocery and meat market, which police said dealt extensively in grapes, was partially wrecked late Tuesday night by a bomb.

The owners—Albert Angelier and Joe Setlin—were warned about a year ago to "get out of the racket."
Two months later eight shots were fired through the store windows by gunmen who drove past late at night.
Joe Angelier, son of Albert, told police he knew the names of the bombers, but that he was afraid he would be "bumped off" if he revealed them.

3 MEN ARE BURNED TO DEATH IN CANADA

Sioux Lookout, Man.—(AP)— Trapped by flames in their tiny cabin at Narrows Woman lake, Port age, three prospectors were burned to death, four dogs, chained to the outside of the building, also perished.

News of the tragedy was brought here by an airplane. The bark of the terrified dogs roused R. F.
Dynes, sleeping in a shack some distance away, but because of the flames he was unable to rescue either the men or the dogs. The victims were Tony Tyrrell and men named Cougan and Voigt.

OSHKOSH STOCK CASE ADJOURNED TO FEB. 28

Oshkosh—(AP)—On Mutual stipulation by opposing attorneys, the stockholders controversy case involving the city and farmers was adjournd Wednesday to Feb. 28. The temporary injunction restraining the city from enforcing its ordinance preventing the shipment of livestock, will remain in effect. Another court action, involving the city and the Soo line railroad, will be heard Feb. 18.

HANNAN AGAIN HEADS STATE CONTROL BODY

Madison—(AP)—Col. John J. Hannan was reelected president and Miss Harriett E. Grim was elected vice president of the state board of controlling the sale of liquor at its annual meeting held here Tuesday.
Allan W. Bayley was re-elected secretary.

PROGRESSIVES DENY BARRY CHARGES

BOOST ASKED IN TARIFF ON PAPER ITEMS

Wausau Manufacturer Proposes Increase in 21 of 74 Classes Listed

Washington—(AP)—Contending that American manufacturers of paper faced increased competition from Europe and that present duties were so classified as to cause wholesale evasions. The American Paper and Pulp association Wednesday proposed increases in 21 of the 74 items in this section of the tariff law.

Testifying for the association before the house ways and means committee, D. C. Everest of Wausau, Wis., declared that $131,000,000 of paper and paper products entered free last year. He held the changes suggested would enable the domestic industry to expand and would prevent large evasions of the law.

The paper industry, he said, involves a capital of about one billion dollars, employs some 135,000 workers, and has a total annual production of ten million tons, valued at upwards of a billion dollars. Everest said the industry was not seeking a general upward revision of rates but only such increases as would permit the domestic manufacturers to meet the imported product on an even basis.

Many of these items, he said, were products which have been developed since the passage of the present tariff.

NEWSPRINT QUESTION

Everest asked that printing paper not especially provided for bear a duty of one quarter of a cent a pound, and 10 per cent ad valorem, the change specifically to cover uncoated book paper with a rate of one quarter of a cent and 15 per cent, and uncoated printing paper with a duty of 3 cents and 15 per cent.

He did not request taxing newsprint from the free list. This led Representative Garner of Texas, ranking Democrat on the committee to ask if this were not because of the "political fear of the newspapers of this country."

"If I had my way," Everest replied, "I would protect it."

He added that he failed to ask a duty for newsprint because he did not think he could get by with it.
He modified this later by saying he did not believe he wanted to get by with it because the domestic industry had "gone through the pangs of this thing," and turned to other lines.

NOT ECONOMICALLY SOUND

"I don't think it would be economically sound," he said, "to think we could produce enough in this country to meet the needs."

Representative Baughman, Republican, New Jersey, observed that newsprint from Canada was practically not competitive, because it was "pretty well cleaned up in this country."

"No attempt was made in the act of 1922," Everest said, "either to defend standard newsprint, and since the line of demarcation between varying grades of book paper and newspaper is often hazy and determinable only by chemical analysis, the customs authorities have had a great deal of difficulty in determining what paper should be du-tiable and what should be entitled to enter free of duty."

W. Irving Osborne of Cornell, Wis., representing manufacturers of pulp board, asked an increase to one-half cent a pound and 10 per cent in the duty on pulp board, declaring it was being imported at $20 a ton against a $60 to $63 mill cost in the United States.

JARDINE WILL RETIRE WITH COOLIDGE REGIME

Washington—(AP)—Secretary Jardine eliminated himself as a possible member of the Hoover cabinet in a formal statement Wednesday announcing that he had accepted a position as counsel for the Federated Fruit and Vegetable Growers.
Secretary Jardine has headed the agriculture department throughout the Coolidge administration. He stood with the president in all of the controversy over the equalization fee in the velvet McNary-Haugen farm relief bill.

There were reports more than a year ago that he would accept a place with the Florida fruit interests who were then organizing a marketing plan. Mr. Jardine will have headquarters in Washington.

The secretary is the second member of the Coolidge cabinet to express a desire to return to private life after March 4. Secretary Kellogg some time ago made it known that he would not remain as head of the state department.

MILLIONAIRE HOBBO QUITS RAIL RODS FOR AUTO TRAVEL

Memphis, Tenn.—(AP)—James Eads How, known as the "Millionaire hobbo," has given up riding the rods. Instead, he said on arriving here Wednesday, he plans to become a "fin can tourist," and travel by automobile.
"Most of the 'hobos' have deserted the trains for the highways and I am going to follow suit," he said.

How came to Memphis to conduct a conference on unemployment and to make plans for a similar conference at Alexandria, Va., opening Feb. 22.

Gypsy Band Meets Death By Freezing

London—(AP)—Westward shifting of Europe's arctic blanket Wednesday added France and England to the extreme sufferers from cold unprecedented in continental weather records. Deaths on the continent

"Very cold" was the forecast for the British Isles for the next 24 hours. In France there was a heavy snowfall in even the sunny Riviera, and it was feared the Marne and Seine would freeze over.

Continued distress was reported from Germany, Holland, Scandinavia, Austria and the Balkan countries. There was a lessening in severity of the weather in Constantinople, however, and the mitigation was gradually spreading westward and offered the promise of relief there.

Warsaw, Poland, reported an entire gypsy band of 34 men, women and children, frozen to death in their camp near Lublin, while the Express printed Wednesday a Vienna dispatch relating that a pack of 100 wolves attacked a school at Javina and killed 16 children, two soldiers and four gendarmes. Seven died at Antwerp. Although an accurate estimate of casualties is impossible it is certain they will run into hundreds.

Rivers were frozen over Wednesday, sea channels obstructed, steamers, ferries and cargo boats alike frozen in, and communications over all of continental and insular Europe disrupted.

VENEZUELA PRESIDENT UNHARMED IN AMBUSH

Bogota, Colombia—(AP)—A circumstantial account of an attempt to assassinate President Juan Vicente Gomez of Venezuela, was telegraphed here Wednesday by a newspaper correspondent at San Jose de Cucia, a Venezuelan frontier town. The story said that the president escaped harm.

The story related that President Gomez, accompanied by an escort, was riding in his automobile in the environs of Maracay, a suburb of Caracas, the capital of Venezuela, when six men opened fire on the car.
The escort returned the shots and all the conspirators were killed in the fight.

BILL ASKS DECISION BOUNDS IN WISCONSIN

Madison—(AP)—A bill proposing decision boxing bouts in Wisconsin was introduced in the state legislature by Assemblyman Frank L.
Prescott, Milwaukee, Wednesday.

Assemblyman Prescott's bill would leave to the boxing commission the privilege of determining decision or non-decision bouts. The state athletic commission is said to favor the measure. Decisions would be made by a referee and two judges under
Mr. Prescott's plan.

A similar bill was recently introduced in the senate by Senator Irving Michigan. Milwaukee. His bill would make all bouts subject to a decision by the referee.

Sentiment in both houses is said to favor the bills and passage of one is termed likely.

COUNCIL AGAIN VOTES BOOTH UNFIT FOR POST

Stibury-on-Thames, England—(AP)—
The high council of the Salvation army Wednesday adjourned General Bramwell Booth's unit for expense as general of the army. The vote was 52 to 5. It was the second time during the past four weeks that the high council had voted the general physically unfit to hold his office. The first time being on Jan.
16, by a vote of 55 to 1.

CLAIM REPORT INTENDED TO BE MISLEADING

Three State Officers Join in Statement to Refute
All Charges

Madison—(AP)—Arthur Barry's report to the superior court of Dane-co, that Progressives violated the corrupt practices act in their 1928 campaign "contains so many flagrant, clear and obvious errors that the malicious and deliberate intention of the author to mislead is conclusive," said Henry A. Huber, Lieutenant governor; Theodore Dam-mann, secretary of state, and John W. Reynolds, attorney general, in a signed statement Wednesday.

These three state officers were recommended for criminal and civil prosecution by Mr. Barry.

Wednesday they said their accuser has apparently proceeded with a generous, if not a sober, application of the theory that if one throws enough mud, it will stick.

Mr. Barry, "serving as well as he can his stalwart associates with misrepresentation and error, cannot divert attention from the admitted excessal expenditure to nominate their candidate for governor," the Progressives declared in pointing to the following alleged fallacies in his charges:

Adding receipts and disbursements
so as to make Senator LaFollette's expenditure appear as $7,702.42, when the actual expenditures on file in the secretary of state's office are $4,988.

OTHER FALLACIES

Adding duplicate items to make expenditures of Joseph D. Beck appear to be $5,741.43, when the actual total expenditures, as shown by figures on file in the office of the secretary of state are $3,005.88.

Adding duplicate items in the expenditures of Theodore Dammann so as to increase his total expenditure by $7,500.

By including assessments paid to the various railroad brotherhoods by their members during the two-year period to make it appear that $63,504 have been spent on the behalf of Progressive candidates in Wisconsin.

"Mr. Barry knows there is not a scintilla of evidence or fact to support this willfully misleading inference. Mr. Barry, in his effort to increase the total expenditures by any means, could have accomplished his purpose more effectively and by just as honest a method by including the salaries, wages and income of all farmers, wage earners and business during the last ten years. This would have given Mr. Barry quite a large total and the mere fact that this large total was not used or expended for or in the interests of Progressive candidates, should not have bothered him or his associates."

Further fallacies, they said, were:
Charging the cost of an edition of "Labor" at $35,921.50, when inquiry
by any printer would have appraised
Mr. Barry that it could not have cost more than a tenth of that sum.

Duplicating items in the reports of county committees in exactly the same way as was done with the reports on the candidates.

The three state officers swore that "each dollar spent by the Progressive candidates for state offices, United States senator, or by anyone for their knowledge and consent, was reported as required by law and is on file with the proper officers."

50 Merchants Cooperate In Dollar Day Sales

Approximately 50 merchants have cooperated in the willingness to cooperate in the two Appleton dollar day scheduled for Feb. 20 and 21. Large numbers of all cooperating stores and advertisements announcing the bonanza for the following day will be published in the Tuesday edition of the Appleton Post-Crescent.

Because of the extremely cold weather and the epidemic of influenza slowing up winter business in Appleton all stores have on hand an excessive amount of stock which must be moved before the new spring goods arrive. For this reason merchants will do all possible to clear out their winter stock. Practically all winter stock in all kinds of stores—will be sold at cut-rate prices.

The dollar day sales are being sponsored by the Appleton merchants, the Appleton Advertising club, and the retail division of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce.

Crazed Sailor Fights Off Would-Be Rescuers

Dutch Harbor, Alaska—(AP)—The Japanese steamer Kanko Maru hovered off the rock-bound Aleutian islands fighting a heavy storm Wednesday as it awaited an opportunity to rescue 25 men aboard the doomed Japanese freighter Meye-Maru. Not far away a third Japanese vessel, the Alloway, with one crazed member of her crew aboard, was being driven toward destruction on the rocks.

The Kanko Maru reached the Meye Maru late Tuesday, several hours after the latter had broadcast weak signals that she was pounding to pieces on the rocks of Ugadai island. Because of heavy seas the rescue vessel was unable to assist her but stood by waiting for the wind to subside.

Thirty-three members of the crew of the Alloway were picked up in lifeboats by the steamer Montauk Tuesday after an unsuccessful five-day fight against the storm. The Montauk had been trying to tow the Alloway to Dutch harbor. When the low line broke and the disabled vessel began heading for the rocks of Unimak pass "the Montauk began to back away. The helpless ship crashed into the Montauk but the latter vessel made a safe getaway

while all except one member of the Alloway's crew took to lifeboats.
The crazed member of the Al-loway's crew, a man named Poey, refused to leave the doomed freighter.
The Alloway's dragging anchors caught on a rock a few yards off shore and at last reports she was holding there with Poey still aboard.
The Montauk reported that the anchors would soon give and that the Alloway doubtless would be pounded to pieces. The captain of the Montauk declared he would not endanger his own ship further in an attempt to take Poey from the vessel. Poey's companions said he had fought them when they tried to take him into a life boat.

HOOVER INVITED TO BADGER STATE

Asked to Spend Vacation
Here—Reject Resolution
Commending Blaine

Madison—(AP)—Wednesday was resolution passage day in the legislature. Measures for a conference with Illinois and Iowa authorities on gasoline taxes, endorsing U. S. Senator Blaine for a "wet" address, and inviting President Hoover to spend his vacation in Wisconsin were acted upon one or by both of the houses.

The assembly passed the Ingalls resolution for a special joint committee to confer with a similar legislative group from Illinois on possibility of securing a uniform gasoline tax in the two states, after adding an amendment including Iowa in the proposed negotiations. This resolution then went to the senate, where a vote on it may come Thursday.

In the senate, the Gottman resolution praising Senator Blaine for his address in congress Jan. 21 against prohibition was rejected after a "joker" amendment had been added to it by Senator Hutchinson bringing in the names of Congressman Joe Beck, the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, John J. Raskob, Smith's manager in the last presidential campaign and Tammany Hall.

The senate rejected the resolution on the decision had been moved from the Nixon resolution thanking Herman L. Ekers, Raymond D.
Jackson and William J. Morgan, Wisconsin attorneys in the case against excess use of water from Lake Michigan by Chicago, the resolution was adopted by the assembly and sent to the senate. There, a motion to kill it was defeated 15 to 14, and the resolution was concurred in.

The resolution by Assemblyman
Nelson of Douglas co, inviting President-Elect Hoover to come to Wisconsin for his 1929 vacation, previously adopted by the assembly, was concurred in by the senate and will be forwarded to the President-elect.

MAYOR HOAN AND HIS PARTY REACH GERMANY

Cuxhaven, Germany—(AP)—Daniel W. Hoan, mayor of Milwaukee, and a party of fellow citizens, arrived in Germany Wednesday aboard the steamship Cleveland to attend the launching of the Hamburg-American liner Milwaukee Feb. 20.

Director Haller of the Hamburg-American lines, welcomed the party which included Mrs. Hoan, William George Bruce, chairman of the harbor commission, and Alderman Strehlow.

The party will visit Berlin, Dren-den and Saxony Alps, returning to Hamburg on Feb. 19.

MESSAGE TO GERMANY

Hamburg, Germany—(AP)—Mayor Daniel W. Hoan of Milwaukee, who arrived here Wednesday to attend the launching of the Hamburg-American liner Milwaukee on Feb. 20, Wednesday addressed a message of friendship to the people of Hamburg and Germany.

"We set foot on German soil in reverence for this great country and with a feeling of gratitude for the cultural values which America, and especially my native city, owe to Germany," the message read.

He added that the city of Milwaukee deeply appreciated the honor of having a Hamburg American liner named after it.

TRAIN SLIDES BACK, ENDANGERS 100 LIVES

Milwaukee—(AP)—More than 100 passengers got a thrill here Wednesday morning when the two-car train of the electric company in which

than a block and a half, finally coming to a stop after crashing into a pile of scrap iron and a motor bus.
The bus lost a wheel, a few automobiles were scraped, women screamed men tried to jump, but

TIME CLAUSE DOESN'T BAR HIS APPROVAL

Measure Provides for Building 15 Cruisers and One Aircraft Carrier

EMBODIES WORLD PACT

Asks International Agreement to Protect Neutrals on Sea During War

Washington—(AP)—President Coolidge Wednesday signed the naval building bill calling for the construction of 15 cruisers and one aircraft carrier.

The president's approval was given in spite of the measure's clause requiring that all the vessels be laid down by July 1, 1931, which he had opposed. His opposition to his provision was based on the view that it called for expenditure dates with no advance knowledge as to the condition of the treasury when they would be made.

In addition to providing for the construction of the vessels, the measure calls for an international agreement establishing the rights of neutrals at sea in time of war, under an amendment sponsored by Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee, and Senator Reed of Missouri.

LAST BIG PROJECT

The president affixed his signature to the measure, the last major legislative project of his administration, a few minutes after he had conferred with congressional leaders on expenditures which must be made under the measure.

Those present were Senators Curtis and Robinson, majority and minority leaders of the senate, Chairman Hale of the senate naval committee, Speaker Cleggworth, Representatives Tamm and Garrett, Republican and Democratic leaders of the house, and Chairman Snell of the house rules committee.

Less than ten minutes after the meeting had dispersed, Mr. Coolidge approved the bill without ceremony.

MONEY WON'T BE AVAILABLE UNTIL IN 1930

Postal Officials Elated With President's Suggestion

President Coolidge has recommended to Congress that $250,000 be made available for a new federal building in Appleton, the Post-Crescent was advised yesterday morning by Congressman George Schneider in response to a telegram requesting definite information on what is contemplated here.

The Associated Press dispatch received Tuesday indicated that the total appropriation recommended for Appleton was $325,000 but it was learned Wednesday that the president recommended $250,000 of which $250,000 should be made available in 1930.

It is conjectured here that the $75,000 will be used to acquire a site and the remainder for construction of a building.

Several sites are known to be under consideration by postal officials who sent representatives here several months ago to look over the ground. It is known that the site on the corner of Second and Main streets, where the old Appleton hotel and on the other is a theatre. These places naturally attract automobiles and postal patrons have considerable trouble finding a place to park their cars while they go into the office.

Postal workers are handicapped in getting to and from the building with their cars.

OFFICIALS HAPPY

Appleton postal officials expressed their elation at the president's recommendation. The present building, erected in 1912, has long been inadequate.

It is believed here the new building will be a two story structure, with the postoffice on the main floor and offices for the internal revenue collector, income tax inspector and civil service board on the second floor.

One of the biggest difficulties at the present office is the traffic problem. The building is located across the street from the fire department and a hotel, one side is a second hotel and on the other is a theatre. These places naturally attract automobiles and postal patrons have considerable trouble finding a place to park their cars while they go into the office.

MAY PICK NEW SITE

It is considered quite likely that in view of this serious traffic problem, the new postoffice site will be chosen in some section of the city where this difficulty will be eliminated.

Inside the office conditions are even worse than outside. Because of lack of space on the first floor it was necessary, seven years ago, to construct a mezzanine floor 16 feet deep and 26 feet wide at the rear of the main office room. On this small floor 20 city and 3 rural mail carriers work daily. These men are crowded under the roof in a space that ordinarily would not accommodate more than ten carriers.

PLAN FRIDAY NIGHT SOCIAL AT Y. M. C. A.

Carlton Roth, assistant boys' work secretary of the Y. M. C. A. is arranging plans for an educational hike for Century club members, Saturday morning. The group will leave the association building at 9:30 in the morning for a point to be designated later in the week. It will be in the form of a nature study and camp hike, according to Mr. Roth.

PIONEER GROUPS TO HAVE DINNER

Men and boys interested in the four new Pioneer clubs in the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. will meet at a dinner in the association building at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening to elect club leaders, according to C. C. Bailey, boys' work secretary. The clubs were organized two weeks ago, and are each composed of 10 members. Problems of Pioneer clubs are to be discussed.

DAHL LEAVES FOR TRAINING SCHOOL

Strange Malady

Family of 11 Children Losing Sight as They Near Age of 14

Milwaukee—Eleven children in one family here are afflicted with a strange malady that almost certainly will claim their sight before their maturity.

Weakening eyesight already has made its appearance on two of the oldest children and the prospect of total blindness for the rest of the world faces each of the youngsters as the passing years bring them within the range of their peculiar affliction.

The children, who are of Greek parentage and are unable to speak the language of the country in which they live, will become totally blind as they reach the age of 13 or 14 years, medical authorities say.

The two older children, a boy and a girl who are reaching the "dead line" that nature has imposed on their eyes, have become so near-sighted that they are virtually blind now.

It is only a question of a few years, medical men say, before the rest of the children will be stricken and the burden of their support—already upon the county—will become increasingly heavy.

HISTORY OF Y. M. C. A. OUTLINED BY WERNER

Taking Lincoln as an example of a leader of young men, George Werner, general secretary of the local Young Men's Christian association, addressed members of Rotary club at their noon luncheon at Hotel Northern Tuesday.

He pointed out how Lincoln had been a friend and a leader to his boys—the head of a young men's Christian association in his own family.

The speaker then showed how young men's groups had been in existence since the time of Gideon's band, and how the first effort to organize young men into a group to do a definite piece of work in a community was in the days of Cotton Mather.

ROOSEVELT SCHOOL HAS VALENTINE PARTY

A Valentine party will be held after school on Thursday for students in the TW home room at Roosevelt Junior high school. The Valentine box, bedecked with hearts and white crepe paper, was made by Misses Lola Mae Zuehlke, Betty Buchanan, John Steele, Bernice Bentz, John Miller and Jean Meyer, and John Koffend, Karl Cast, Alden Hensel and Stanley Jury.

Inasmuch as the Aero club is presenting a movie at 4 o'clock the same afternoon, the party will be held for only a short time.

PLAN FRIDAY NIGHT SOCIAL AT Y. M. C. A.

Carlton Roth, assistant boys' work secretary of the Y. M. C. A. is arranging plans for an educational hike for Century club members, Saturday morning. The group will leave the association building at 9:30 in the morning for a point to be designated later in the week. It will be in the form of a nature study and camp hike, according to Mr. Roth.

INDIVIDUAL MUST SELL SAFETY IDEA TO MAKE PROGRESS

350 Men Hear Chicagoan Tell How to Make Industry Safer for Workers

Applying the philosophy of salesmanship to the field of safety, L. A. Orlin, salesman of the Kimball Piano company of Chicago, stressed the necessity of individuals interested in safety selling the idea to fellow workmen, at the third session of the Appleton Safety conference at the Conway hotel, Tuesday evening.

Approximately 350 plant foremen, executives and others interested in the safety school attended. Employees of plants in Kaukauna, Kimberly, Combined Locks, Little Chute, and Appleton were present.

"It is essential that the man interested in practicing safety be sold on the idea himself and believe in his goods," the speaker said. "The second essential is that he must know and study the man whom he is trying to sell safety." He urged enthusiasm, and cited examples of safety problems in industrial plants.

"Before starting an intensive safety drive it is necessary to remove obstructions which are continually opposing and knocking organizations and projects," the speaker said. The basis for measuring effectiveness of salesmanship in safety is through the accident record of the plant, he continued.

"Safety schools could be held every night, but unless individual safety is made an individual requirement there can be no real progress," he stated.

H. G. Noyes, itinerant coordinator of the pulp and paper industry of the Appleton vocational school was chairman of the Tuesday evening session. The meeting opened with a song, led by Herb Helig, director of the school.

It was reported that local contractors and construction men are organizing a new section in the Appleton Safety conference which will deal specifically with construction men's safety problems. The new section will meet for the first time with sectional conferences of the metal, pulp and paper, public utilities and woodworking sections next Tuesday evening. Several construction men were enrolled in the other sections, but have since transferred, it was reported. The group discussions will be on "Trouble Shooting."

The safety school is now composed of 392 foremen, safety executives and employees of industrial plants at Kimberly, Combined Locks, Kaukauna, Little Chute and Appleton. Similar schools are now being conducted at other cities in the state including Green Bay, Marinette, Manitowish and others. The Manitowish school has an enrollment of 750 men, it is reported.

PROTEST ERECTION OF TELEPHONE POLES

A protest against proposed installation of telephone poles or overhead electric lines on south side of W. College-ave from the intersection with Story-st west has been filed with Carl Becher, city clerk. The protest, signed by 32 property holders, asks the common council prevent the Wisconsin Telephone Co. or any electric company to carry out such installations. No objection would be forthcoming if the wires were put under the ground, the protest stated.

WORK IS STARTED ON NEW ALUM STORAGE BIN

Construction of an alum storage bin at the water works plant was started Monday by Hegner Construction Co., which was recently awarded the contract by the water commission. The project will cost approximately $1,200.

The next meeting of the commission will be held at 11:15 next Saturday morning. Only routine business is scheduled.

FISHERMEN ENDORSE PROPOSED STATE LAW

The bill, introduced in the state legislature this week by State Senator Elmer S. Hall, former state conservation commissioner, proposing regulation for the commercial fishing industry of the state, is being sponsored by the Wisconsin Federation of Commercial Fishermen according to Samuel Sigman, general director and counsel of the organization.

Previous legislation affecting the fishing industry in the state did not have the endorsement of the fishermen because they were not organized, according to Mr. Sigman. Mr. Hall's bill is the first which represents the wishes of the men actually engaged in the industry.

As a result of state meetings, held by the association which is only a year old, this bill now represents a program of conservation and regulation that has the support of those in the industry.

In 1927 the fishing industry in Wisconsin brought a revenue of $1,127,016.81 which represented 12,410,466 pounds of fish.

Relief Began Instantly When Doctor Advised Home Use of Pleasant Hospital Method

By taking the timely advice of his doctor, E. H. Harding, like numbers of people here, has found that it is not necessary to go thru the needless misery of a cold. Nor is there any necessity for needless fear if the right steps are taken to end a cold quickly before danger sets in.

Mr. Harding contracted a severe cold which nothing seemed to relieve. Examination showed that his nose tubes were badly congested; his throat was inflamed and the cold was rapidly spreading. Fearing pneumonia then he called a doctor

"VAMPIRE" DRIVER HITS SEYMOUR MAN

Denne Mitchell Is Seriously Injured With Wounds About Body and Head

Struck by a "vampire" motorist early last Saturday night, Denne Mitchell, 47, route 5, Seymour, is in St. Vincent hospital, Green Bay, with a fractured pelvis, a laceration of the scalp and a severe laceration of the nose, which is almost severed from the face. He was knocked down on Highway 64 a half mile east of Seymour.

The Rev. E. Watson, Seymour, found the injured man and notified police officials. Mitchell was taken to the town hall and then removed from there to the hospital in the car of Dr. V. J. Hiltner, Seymour.

His condition is reported favorable and he probably will recover. Several stitches have been taken in his nose and although he will be confined to the hospital for some time, physicians are optimistic about the patient.

Dry Squad Active In City Founded Over Whisky Jug

Leadville, Colo. —(AP)—Two prospectors, August Rische and George Hook, one day in 1877 sat down on the side of Fryer Hill in the shadow of the Continental divide to sample a jug of whisky.

One of them picked up a piece of rich silver ore. Thus Leadville was started and it became the greatest silver camp in the world.

Liquor played a part in the founding of the town and today federal prohibition officers assert liquor still plays a big part in Leadville's life. Six of the city's officials—including the mayor, three councilmen and two policemen—are under indictment on charges of "conspiracy to violate the prohibition law." Twenty-one other citizens, proprietors of soft drink parlors, were cited to appear with the city officials in federal court at Pueblo to answer the charges.

While the rest of the country worked toward prohibition, Leadville remained apart—a rollicking mining town, picturesque in fiction and history. Fabulous wealth from the hills gave Leadville mills of boardwalk, on which the heels of hearty miners have clicked ever since the city came into existence. Saloons sprang up profusely in the early '80s and became the accepted rendezvous of all "respected" citizens.

Physically this mining town is scarcely changed since the early days. Saloons with curtained windows, swining doors and mahogany bars still remain. They are listed for the most part as clubs and soft drink parlors. But prohibition officers say that the old saloons have lost only their names.

A single row of frame shacks along the edge of the California gulch, which later became known as "The Lane" or State street, was Leadville's happy way from the beginning. When a railroad was extended to the mining camp a second row of saloons sprang up opposite the

Two-story Brick Building Is Badly Damaged—Three Tenants "Burned Out"

De Pere —(AP)—Volunteer firemen of De Pere and firemen from Green Bay fought desperately for two hours to quench a fire which wrecked a two-story brick store building here early Tuesday night, with a loss estimated at $65,000.

In addition to the loss of the building to the Robert Jackson estate, three tenants lost merchandise and furnishings, including the Harry Casway Ready-to-Wear shop, $25,000; Schultz Bros. Variety Store, $5,000; and Dr. H. E. Pomrenning, dentist, $2,000.

Passersby who saw smoke and flames in the Casway store spread the alarm. The flames spread rapidly and threatened the adjoining

De Pere's volunteer fire department responded and while the men fought the flames, the Green Bay Fire department was called.

Two pumers and a service truck of Green Bay, five miles away, arrived at the scene and were put into action. It was not long then before the fire was under control.

The interior and the wooden roof of the building were destroyed, but the brick walls remained standing.

DRUG COLLECTION MOVED INTO NEW BUILDING AT U. W.

Accumulation of Half Century, Composed of 10,000 Items, Transferred

Madison—(AP)—A half century's accumulation of drugs, consisting of 10,000 items, has been moved into new quarters in the chemistry building at the University of Wisconsin. Collection has had an interesting history on the university campus since Prof. Edward Kremers in 1892 succeeded Dr. Frederick B. Powers as director of the course in pharmacy. At that time Dr. Power's collection was housed in small cabinets due to the restrictions of space in North hall where the department of pharmacy had its quarters.

When the engineering staff in 1892 moved to new quarters the drug collection was placed on the fourth floor of North hall, occupying about half the floor. The increased space permitted Prof. Kremers to enlarge the collection, and in connection with his work at the world fair in 1893 he was able to get in touch with exhibitors of drugs.

The Johore exhibit of drugs and medicine dates from this time, Prof. Kremers states. It represents the first large addition made to the university collection. Other additions were made from time to time, including illustrations and photograph exhibits to supplement the specimens. Illustrative showing various plants, their cultivation and harvesting give the students a clearer idea of the specimen.

Although the main collection has been idle for many years, several special collections have been added by the department. Prof. Kremers comments. About a decade ago the Philippine Islands collection was contributed by two students who had lived there. A Chinese collection was gathered and donated by K. K. Chen and other Chinese students.

The oldest group in the collection dates from 1893 when Dr. Frederick Hoffman sent from New York a collection of cinchona barks which had been used at the University of Berlin in the 1850's by Prof. Berg in connection with the writing of his classical work the "Anatomical Atlas of the World."

Chaney Mum On Why He's Most Popular Of Stars

BY DAN THOMAS

Hollywood, Cal. — "I don't know—and if I did know, I wouldn't tell you."

That was Lon Chaney's reply to my question regarding his version of why he was chosen by exhibitors as the most popular leading man on the screen in a national poll taken recently.

"It's silly for any man to talk about himself," continued Chaney. "In the first place no man is going to say things that are detrimental to him. And if he says favorable things about himself, people will say just another actor blowing off. If you want to know the reason, you will have to talk to some of the people I have worked with. Get their Meas—nobody cares what I think about myself anyway."

ARE YOU SURPRISED?

Ornand one might be surprised to find Chaney's name heading the list of leading men. You might expect Ronald Colman, John Gilbert, Charles Rogers or Charles Farrell to be in first place. But on second thought it is not at all surprising to find Chaney at the top of the list.

For years the "man with a thousand faces" has been entertaining theatregoers. During that time he has never worn the same make-up twice. Consequently, during his years as a star his followers have never tired of him. His old fans continue to stand by him and he is acquiring new ones all the time. Tod Browning, who has directed

COLLEGE DEBATERS HAVE BIG PROBLEM

Schedule Is One of Heaviest Ever Attempted by Lawrence Speakers

One of the heaviest schedules ever attempted by a Lawrence debate squad was begun this week when a program of nine intercollegiate debates was lined up for the negative and affirmative teams. Arthur Mueller and Edwin West, negative, debated with the Carroll affirmative team at Stevens Point on Monday night. These same two teams will debate again at Mosinee and Antigo during the week.

On Wednesday, William Morton and Dan Hopkinson, negative, leave to continue the contests with Carroll at Eagle River, Norway, and Stambaugh, Mich. William Egerman and Robert Beggs, Lawrence affirmative men, begin a series of debates on Thursday with Eau Claire, Hudson, and River Falls against the Beloit negative team.

The question for debate this year is: Resolved that the public shall maintain and develop the principle sources of hydro-electric power in the United States. Debates are given before high school assemblies in the afternoon and before general audiences in the evening. The non-decision method is followed in all cases.

SHIPPING ASSOCIATION TO HOLD MEETING HERE

Notices of the meeting are being issued by Henry Gueff, shipping manager.

him in some of his biggest successes says:

"I think the secret of Lon's popularity is sincerity. I have never seen an actor take his business as seriously as Lon does. When he comes to the set he doesn't want to think of anything else. He becomes the character he is portraying."

"Another thing is loyalty. He is always ready to help anybody in the cast and in return the members of the cast do their best for him. Such cooperation always shows to good advantage."

Another thing which builds Chaney up, and which Browning forgot to mention, is the type of casts he has in all his pictures. Lon will not make a picture without the best available players supporting him. With such actors and actresses surrounding him, he is forced to do his very best.

That is one thing that helps to keep Chaney alive. The average producer surrounds his stars with cheap casts.

THE PROGRESSIVES ARE "IT"

Criminal prosecution of La Follette Progressive leaders for violation of the corrupt practices act in the last campaign, together with civil action to void the election of three Progressive officials, Lieut. Gov. Huber, Secretary of State Dammann and Attorney-General Reynolds, as recommended in the Dane county superior court by Arthur Barry, special prosecutor appointed to investigate campaign expenditures, is primarily reprisal for the persecution to which Gov. Kohler has been subjected by the La Follette forces.

There probably would have been no investigation of the La Follette machine campaign methods had the action not been forced by Progressive initiative. In its main aspects the fight on both sides is a smoke screen to cover a bitter fight for political power. It is the Progressives who started the trouble and now they are placed on the defensive. Although nothing may come of the charges put out by either camp, the publicity should be wholesome, in that it will open the eyes of the people to political practices of which they ought to be informed.

If the accusations against Mr. Kohler are technical and trivial, those made by Prosecutor Barry against the La Follette group are decidedly serious. It is alleged that five of the Progressive candidates, including Beck, the head of the state ticket, pooled their campaign funds in direct violation of the law, receiving and spending campaign contributions with a total value of $131,191, or an average of $26,238 for each, whereas the law limits the candidate for governor to an expenditure of $4000 and the others to $1500.

It is charged that a New York attorney, one Richard H. Lee, contributed $5000 to the Progressive campaign fund which was not reported, as required by law. It is further charged that this Lee violated the statute in more than six particulars in Milwaukee county. The prosecutor's comment on this incident is worth repeating:

Mr. Lee's connection with the Wisconsin 1924 election is not only mysterious, dark and foreboding, but spells and shows an outside interest, vicious in its nature, in Wisconsin politics, which in the future, if it cannot be prevented or reached by state legislation should call for national legislation.

It is further charged that a political contribution in the form of a special edition of Labor, an official organ of the railroad brotherhoods supporting the Beck ticket, of more than 500,000 copies was mailed from Washington or sent to the committee for distribution from house to house and at political meetings. The money value of this publication is set at $35,937, and, to quote Mr. Barry, "not one cent of this contribution and expenditure was ever reported through any source to a filing officer in Wisconsin." Similar charges are made with reference to issues of the Capital Times, official organ of the La Follette Progressives, distributed as political pamphlets. It is also charged that six organizers for railroad brotherhoods received more than $400 each for political work in behalf of the La Follette Progressive ticket, and that this expenditure was not reported.

Mr. Barry charges are probably exaggerated, as were those against governor Kohler, that there is plenty left after making due allowance for possible prejudice.

Summing up his findings, Prosecutor Barry declares: "There are numerous other violations of the (corrupt practices) act but enough is here shown to demonstrate the utter contempt in which the act was held by the La Follette group. If they failed in any particular to flaunt and violate the law it was because they lacked industry, understanding, imagination or suggestion so to do." Mr. Barry expresses the opinion that there had been a master mind in charge of "the tremendous political weapon" this machine had, Mr.

Beck might have been nominated for governor.

In passing judgment on these disclosures and charges it is pertinent to remark that this mis-named La Follette Progressive group has laid claim to all of the political virtues. It has held itself up as immaculate and irreproachable. It has denounced all and sundry who disagreed with it as impure and unholy. It has pretended to stand for what was honest and honorable in public life. Those who opposed it were the enemies of society and their politics subversive and unconscionable. The Progressives were the lily white lambs of society and government, and the rest of humanity black sheep and wolves.

We have said all along that if the truth were known these anointed Progressives were the real offenders. It has required the gubernatorial campaign of 1928, together with the persecution of Gov. Kohler, to show that they are poor losers and vulnerable in their own campaign practices; politicians ready to adopt any methods to gain their ends. And the conclusion is warranted that these ends are not at all altruistic, but selfish.

THE ROMAN CONCORDAT

The signing of a treaty and concordat between Italy and the Holy See which has just taken place at Rome, and terminates a 60 year conflict between the two, is an event of world-wide interest. By the terms of this treaty what is known as the city of the Vatican is set up and recognized by the Italian government as a separate and sovereign state. This vatican domain is to be under the sole jurisdiction of the Holy See, giving it equal recognized rank with the Italian nation. Many important collateral concessions are made to the Catholic church, including the payment of $87,500,000 as financial recompense for claims based on confiscations and other acts following the rupture of 1870.

It is an understanding which apparently has the approval of the Italian people. It restores the Holy See to an undisputed exercise of temporal power. It undoubtedly makes for the spiritual and social betterment of Italy. It is a rational solution of the Roman question, which has disturbed Italy for three generations.

Italy of all the countries in the world is the right home for the seat of government of the Catholic church. There should be harmony between the church and state there, because it is natural and propitious, and the negotiation of the treaty by Mussolini which recognizes the Holy See as an independent state is not a concession too great to make in the interest, not only of the Catholic church itself, but of the relations between church and state in that cradle of Romanism. Whatever the consequences it is another of Mussolini's notable performances.

A CANADIAN JINGOISM

A member of the Canadian parliament was called to order the other day by the prime minister for a caustic attack upon the United States. The offending member, conservative leader in the house of commons, all but accused the United States of trying to foment war with Great Britain. His indictment was particularly directed against members of the United States senate and certain newspapers.

We are not surprised at this loss of self-restraint. For several years we have listened to a flamboyant American jingoism that has ascribed to British international policy every form of malevolence and bad faith. We have ridden John Bull up and down lanes of spears with a recklessness that must have been exceedingly trying on British patience. We have done this in the face of the fact that there are not even the remotest grounds on which to predicate or anticipate war between the two countries. We have done it while the government at Washington pretended the utmost friendliness for the English nation.

It must have been distasteful to Canadians who are still a loyal ingredient of the British empire. Our jingoism has been intemperate, provocative, disagreeable. These exhibitions are the chief political account of certain politicians and newspapers. They constitute not only a wrong against a great nation with which we are at peace, but they put us in a bad light internationally. Tolerance for the government and peoples of the rest of the world is one of the foremost virtues of vocal if not numerous type of American needs to be schooled in.

POST-TONIC

The Remedy is Worse Than the Malady

HAROLD THE SEER remarked to me innocently after reading about that bathing ordinance that now he knows the meaning of the night has a thousand eyes the day but one.

The ordinance says: "Every person who shall bathe in the Fox river or in canal or roadway within the city between the hours of 5 o'clock in the morning and 9 o'clock in the evening, unless clothed from neck to knees, shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, and shall be punished therefore, on conviction thereof, by a fine of not less than $1 nor more than $10, together with costs of prosecution, and in default of payment thereof shall be committed to the county jail not more than six days."

"But what must they wear before 5 o'clock in the morning, and after 9 o'clock in the evening?" the Seer asked. The poet that talked about the thousand eyes of night, he thinks, must have been in Appleton shortly after that ordinance was written for the first time.

If the city begins to enforce the ordinance next summer he thinks that someone may be hurt in the rush by applicants for jobs as special policemen.

"If that ordinance is ever enforced there'll be no such thing as a flapper," he pondered aloud—"but maybe it's all right for them to be that way, as long as they don't go near the Fox river."

"If all the violators go in the county jail then all the public offices in Appleton will be annexed to said jail."

A cop was directing traffic on a busy corner. When giving the "go" sign he would always call "Pedestrians this way."

After a while he noticed a big Irishman who had been standing on the curb for a long time. He finally called to the Irishman and said, "Pedestrians this way, why don't you get a move on you?"

The Irishman shouted back, "I've been waiting here for an hour and all you've called in 'Presbyterians this way.' When in hell are you going to call the Catholics?"

TONSILS AND THE VOICE

About 14 years ago a New York throat specialist canvassed 500 throat specialists and 500 singing teachers for opinions and statistics in reference to the effect of removal of the tonsils on the voice. Upon the results he received, and his own observation and experience, the specialist, Dr. Irving W. Voorhees, based these conclusions:

1. Analysis of 5,000 tonsil operations in singers shows that in the hands of skilled operators there need be no special fear of bad results.
2. It is the consensus that had results are most often due to cicatricial (that means scar) contractions occurring from careless dissection or from neglected after treatment.
3. Loss of singing voice after tonsillectomy might be due to a nerve lesion, but is probably due to adhesions and cicatricial formations in the fauces (that means throat).
4. Loss of singing voice occurs very rarely after tonsillectomy. Impaired voice is possible but—
5. Most voices show an increased range of from half to a full tone after the removal of the tonsils.

TONSILS AND ADENOID SUMMER-TIMES GROW AGAIN

Do the tonsils or adenoid body ever grow again or become enlarged after surgical removal? Certainly any tissue (doctors call the tissue that composes the tonsils and adenoid body round cell or adenoid tissue), any adenoid tissue left in the throat may undergo hypertrophy or enlargement afterward, just as the no portion of tonsils or adenoid body had been removed. This is what happens in some instances, particularly in young children, where tonsils or adenoids seem to "grow again" after surgical removal. By the way, adenoids or tonsils, no matter how large or how abnormal, are not "growths," unless you would call teeth and thumbs "growths."

Recently two Chicago physicians discovered a case in which the new method of treating tonsils, called diathermy, electrocoagulation or desiccation, had apparently failed to sterilize a septic focus in the tonsil. They published a report of this failure in a medical journal that is achieving a reputation for funny editing. They condemned the new method on the strength of this failure. If we were to follow that policy the surgical removal of tonsils and adenoids would have been discarded long ago, for it is well known that even the most skillful surgeon with the best equipment and conditions may leave enough adenoid tissue in the throat after an operation to cause future trouble.

I am no throat specialist, nor yet a coloratura tenor, but if my tonsils and adenoids were to do me more harm than good I'd prefer to have 'em obliterated by a doctor who uses diathermy, desiccation, coagulation, the special electrical cauterizers they have today for this purpose.

The reactionary attitude of the medical profession toward new ideas or methods is notorious. Often the profession is reproached with it, and it must indeed vex the discoverer or the pioneer who offers the new thing. Yet it is fortunate for public welfare that the medical profession as a whole is not too ready to take up any new thing. This very thing of being a vice president-elect has been the making of Charlie Curtis.

Balls, benefits and banquets—so dear to the hearts of those in Washington's social register—have been somewhat of a bore to Curtis in the past. During his days as a senator such functions held little attraction for him. A quiet evening with his sister and brother-in-law in the remoteness of their Cleveland Park home was a thing much better to the Vice President than any of the things of Washington.

But now it is different. Each day, since the election, has been a day of more and more interest in society until now he is regarded as quite a man about town (if a vice president-elect may be so referred to).

HE'S ENJOYING IT
Of course it was to be expected that a fuss would be made over him on account of his exalted position. Society was prepared to take him up, but society was quite surprised when it was taken up so readily by Senator Curtis. Washington hostesses are jubilant, and from all indications the vice president-elect is having the time of his life.

He is taking a fling at everything. Indeed, an evening at home for Curtis now is a rare thing. The other evening he and his party created quite a stir among the audience of one of the cheaper Washington theatres when they made their way to a front box.

And he stayed until the final curtain.

Curtis' entrance into the social order as vice president has brought about complications and anxious moments for hostesses.

QUESTION OF RANK
He is a widower and makes his home with his sister, Mrs. Edward Everett Gann. Mrs. Gann has been designated by him as his "official hostess." Mr. Gann, her husband, is an attorney of distinction in Washington, but has no official rank. Mrs. Gann goes everywhere with her brother. Frequently they are accompanied by Mr. Gann, but there are times when he prefers to remain at home.

What shall be done with Mrs. Gann? More than one hostess has asked. Shall she be accorded the honor of her brother's rank or that of her husband?

In other words, just where shall Mrs. Gann be seated when she attends a dinner with the two—with her husband, who has no official rank, far down the table or with her brother, the vice president of the United States, in the charmed circle at the head of the table?

Some contend that a distinction must be made between Mrs. Gann accompanying her brother and Mrs. Gann accompanied by her husband. In one instance, at least, invitations were issued "to meet vice president and Mrs. Gann."

Precedent and precedence means much in Washington. Therefore, the problem is acute.

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

Washington—Socially speaking this thing of being a vice president-elect has been the making of Charlie Curtis.

CHILDREN WILL LIKE THIS GAY VALENTINE FETE

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

A VALENTINE party always has a distinct appeal to small people and it affords unusual opportunities for decoration for any party. Hearts, cupid's bows and arrows, roses, violets and lovers' knots are all symbolical of the good saint and lend themselves to practical use. Rose color or pink offers a pleasing color scheme that can be worked out in the food to an unusual degree. Since so many mothers choose February fourteenth for children's parties, I am suggesting this as an early supper menu for children:

Love Apple Soup Toast Sticks Hearts of Celery
Creamed Salmon in Rice Cups
Heart Sandwiches

Raspberry Sponge
Angel Food Cake
Milk or Cocoa

Love apple soup is nothing more than tomato cream soup, using the name our grandmothers gave to tomatoes. Each cup of soup could be topped with a small spoonful of whipped cream made faintly pink with paprika to delight the eyes of the small guests.

Creamed salmon in rice cases is an inexpensive, nourishing and easily digested dish suitable for children but quite purified and attractive.

Creamed Salmon in Rice Cases

One large can salmon, 3 cups milk, 4 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 2 canned pimientos, 1 teaspoon salt, paprika, 2 cups rice, 2 quarts cold water, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, bread crumbs.

Remove salmon from can and pour over boiling water. Drain and remove skin and bones. Flake, melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Rub pimiento through sieve and add with salt and paprika. Add salmon and keep hot over hot water.

Wash rice through several waters. Put in large kettle with butter and water and bring to the boiling point. Shimmer until tender. Spread on dripping pan or platter, making a sheet about two inches thick. When cold and firm cut with a two-inch cookie cutter. Dip in eggs slightly beaten with 2 tablespoons cold water. Roll in crumbs and brown quickly in deep hot fat. Drain on brown paper and scoop out the center when cool, leaving a case not more than 3/4 inch thick. Reheat in the oven when ready to use and fill with creamed salmon.

Raspberry sponge is a simple dessert carrying out the pink color scheme. A sponge cake could be used in place of angel food but the white cake is suggested since it is rather prettier with the dessert.

Raspberry Sponge

Prepare package of raspberry gelatin according to directions. When beginning to set, beat with a Dover beater until frothy. Add one cup of heavy cream whipped until firm. Fold in one cup diced candied cherries and turn into a mold to chill and become firm. Serve with a garnish of whipped cream slightly sweetened and flavored with vanilla. This little supper served daintily and with appropriate favors is sure to please children as well as mothers since there are no overrich and two-sweet dishes planned.

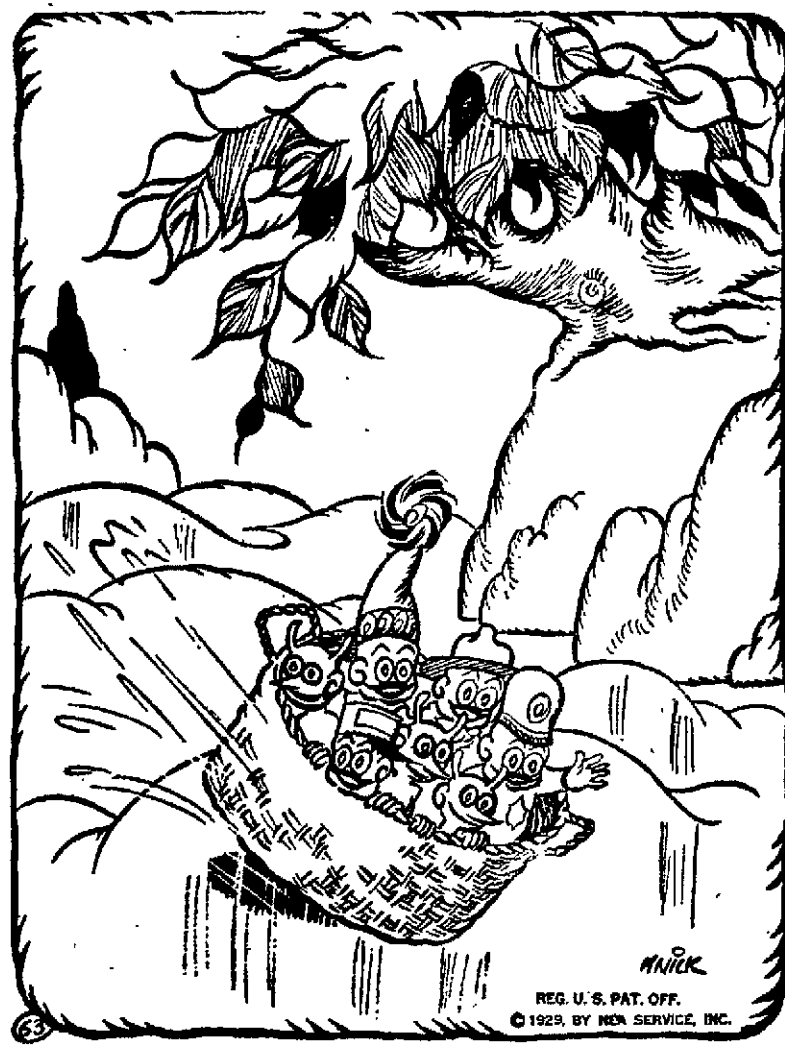

Household Hints

PICKING UP
If the housewife puts a premium on the whole family's putting things away the minute they come home and picking up after themselves, half the work of keeping home neat and clean is done away with.

INITIALED CAKES
For a children's party, nothing is nicer than initialed cakes. Make individual ice cream molds. Even the initials with thin strips of angelica. Children love to search for cakes with their own initials on them.

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

THE Sea Man seemed to quite little while. I'm tired as I can be. He sat down on the ice to rest. The Tots and Tines never guessed that he was going to play a trick, to give them all a fright. All of a sudden, as they peered at him, the Sea Man disappeared. He slid right through a big hole in the ice, right out of sight.

"Oh, mercy me, what can we do?" wailed Copy. "Is our trip all through?" "Of course not," answered Scouty. "I will push the basket now." But ere he had a chance to start, the basket took a sudden dart. It slid all by itself and everybody wondered how.

No far ahead the bunch could see some ice as rilly as could be. "Twas funny when they reached it, and the queer ride was begun. They'd slide right up a hill and then, slip o'er the top and down again." "It's like a scenic railway," shouted Carryp. "Gee, it's fun."

(The Tots and Tines take a plunge in the next story.)

THE NEW Saint Sinner

By Anne Austin

Crystal's first impulse was to call out "Who's there?" in answer to the peremptory knocking upon the door of the little shack in the woods which she had broken into and made the scene of her own "kidnapping." But before the first terrified word could leave her lips, her mind began to function with abnormal swiftness.

It was too early in the game for her to be "rescued." Her ransom letter must be delivered first, and her "rescue" result from its receipt, not from accident. Otherwise her whole scheme would be in vain. Whoever was outside—and how could she know but that it was an armed highwayman—must not come in and find her alone, unarmed, unprepared with a story to fit that letter she had mailed on hour before to Bob Hathaway.

The knocking, which had ceased for a minute or two, was renewed with horrible vigor. Fearing that her return visitor might try to break in, Crystal pulled her dress over her head, fastened it with trembling haste, and running as lightly as possible on fear-stiffened feet, she seized the poker and stood at bay.

"Hallo! Hallo! In there?" a young man's voice called urgently, as a hand shook the knob of the door. "Thank Heaven, she had bolted it, Crystal breathed. 'Car's stalled on the state road. Got any gas in there?' the voice shouted.

Crystal did not answer, of course, but stood poised for battle, the poker raised in trembling hands. In the eerie silence she could hear her heart throbbing like the motor of an engine. Then out of the silence came the most reassuring sound in the world—a girl's giggle.

"Maybe Pete's got a girl in there, Lon!" the giggler called out shrilly. "Yoo-ho, Pete! Be a good sport and give us a gallon of gas. We're stuck—no garage for miles! We saw your light, Pete, so we know you're home!"

"Lon!" Crystal's lips formed the words. Then she realized that the young man's voice had sounded familiar. It was Lon Edwards, of course Dick Talbot's chum—a Stanton boy! For a moment she hesitated—scarcely tempted to un-bolt the door, confess her whole insane scheme, and beg to be taken back to Stanton.

"Hey, Pete, if you are at home, be a sport! Loosen up!" Lon Edwards shouted urgently. "Give and I won't tell on you if you've got a girl with you—"

"I'll make it a foursome!" the giggler shrieked. "Shut up!" Lon Edwards commanded the girl. "He'll think you're drunk. Hey, Pete! What about it, old timer?"

NEXT: A night of horrors.

THE CHILD IS INDEED, FATHER TO THE MAN

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

There are two courses to pursue in child training. The obvious way, the old-fashioned way, was to allow a child to grow up in any sort of fashion until he was five or six years old and when one had a sizable boy or girl to work on, begin to teach him the bad places that somehow or other he had gotten by accident into his constitution.

The new way, since intelligence has made our acquaintance, is to begin with a baby as soon as his senses begin to function and not to lose those precious five or six years at the beginning of life, which are, we now know, the most important of Man's entire span. Though a man may be elected president, the years of service he spends in the White House are not as important to him personally as the years he spends between the time of his birth and the time he starts to school.

What he is later depends on what he is then. Without any question the most plastic period of a child's life are his early years. He is like a tree. You cannot take a tree when it is six years old, wind-twisted, warped, and gnarled, and produce from it the same useful thing of beauty it would have been if cared for properly in the beginning.

THE PLASTIC YEARS
The child is indeed "father to the man." What the child is before six, the man will be.

It looks like a tremendous responsibility, does it not, for a young mother starting in with her first baby? And so it is. She hasn't the advantage that her mother had of waiting a few years until both she and her child are a little older and then starting in to smack his mistakes out of him. No, the newer thought has put all that in the discard.

She must start in at once and learn her new position of motherhood, as regards her baby's character, from the very beginning—the avoidance of complexes, cultivating the desirable and keeping out the disastrous—prevention to keep down weeds—fertilizer to coax out the timid little flowers of worth and goodness.

There are books and lectures for her help, and they are indeed a help. But there is another way she may obtain guidance in teaching her tiny primary class. This is to go to an older woman, a mother who has made an outstanding success with her family in character, mind and body, and get expert knowledge and advice that it would be safe to follow.

The lessons to be learned from an intelligent, experienced mother may be of more value to her than all those she learn from books. Example speaks louder than words.

Horrible Examples In Abundance At Palm Beach

MRS. MARTIN JOHNSON

BY BETSY SCHUYLER
NEA Service Writer

ALM Beach, Fla.—In Palm Beach, one can not only get delicate hints about what to wear, but you can also get warnings as to what not to wear. The Horrible Example flourishes here in tropical abundance.

I often think that an unlimited amount of money to spend is a great handicap to the women who has not excellent taste, because expensive mistakes are usually more glaring and less forgivable than cheap ones.

PURE COLORS SMARTEST

For instance, for day wear here, nothing is smarter than the well-cut dress in white or in a brilliant, pure color. For day, linen dresses, or even gingham ones—provided one is young enough and slim enough, wear with plain white shoes, of conservative cut, seem to me infinitely more charming than these trailing printed chiffon affairs, with points and ruffles, and crepe de chine shoes.

I have no complaint to lodge against chiffons, plain or printed, or against silken shoes, but I am convinced they are not at all smart for day wear here.

Embroidery, spangles, and gaudy gets are entirely out of the picture for morning or for afternoon

Chic Blouse

2612

THE STYLE presented is an unusually slender interpretation of chic blouse, softened by jabot frill to create fashionable one-sidedness. A fitted yoke gives smooth flat hipline desired by every smart woman. It is luxuriously smart in sheer crepe, silk crepe satin or sheer broadcloth lame.

THE PATTERN No. 2612 is the easiest of all patterns to use. Every step shown in pictures. Cuts in sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 40 and 42 inches bust. The pattern is offered at cost price 15 cents (stamp or coin) as a service to readers who send.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Halves of grape fruit, cereal, cream, crisp broiled bacon, spinach with eggs on toast, extra toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Hot pot of beans, apple and lettuce salad, brown bread, chilled steamed prunes, milk, tea.

HOT POT OF BEANS

One cup navy beans, 1-4 pound steak, 1-4 pound ham, 1 cup canned tomatoes, 1-2 cup minced carrot, 1-4 cup minced celery, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 1 cup finely diced potato, 1-2 teaspoons salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1-4 teaspoon mustard.

Wash beans and cover with cold water. Let stand over night. In the morning pour off water. Put meat through food chopper, using fat on the ham. Combine all the ingredients, adding about 4 cups of cold water. Bring to the boiling point and simmer, just below actual bubbling point for three hours, until beans are tender.

With a hearty salad and dessert this can be used for a dinner one-piece meal.

THE RIGHT WAY TO BANISH FAT

Combat a cause which modern research has discovered. Turn food into fuel and energy, rather than into fat. Supply a natural element which your system lacks. That is the method embodied in Marmol's prescription tablets.

People have used Marmol's for 21 years—millions of boxes of it. They have told others the results. Now, in almost every circle, you can see the results in every beauty and new view. Why not learn the way to gain them?

A book in each box of Marmol's tells you the formula, also the reasons for results. You will know why the effects come and why they are beneficial. Go ask your druggist—in fairness to yourself—for $1 box of Marmol's.

I. B. Club Told About Oxford Club

IDEALIGHTS on college life at Oxford, England, were described for the I. B. club at the Methodist church Tuesday night by Miss Ellen Tutton, personnel director at Lawrence college, who spent the third term of last year at Oxford.

Oxford, explained Miss Tutton, is divided into 21 men's and 4 women's colleges, and each institution has its own garden, wall and buildings, making each college a separate unit. However, there is no competition between the colleges, as each one claims a different type of student. For instance, Balliol is the home of great scholars, while Christ college tends more toward the social type.

The average student who comes to Oxford does not get down to business until his third year, according to Miss Tutton, but then he slaves to the point of nervous exhaustion. A great part of the student body is made up of pupils who come direct from the public schools of England. However, the graduate of an English high school is somewhat older and more advanced than the American high school student.

Miss Tutton told of riding to school on a bicycle, of the interest of Oxford students in sport, and of the regulations which guide the social life of Oxford students. Students cannot attend dances without permission, no automobiles may be used, and the gates of Oxford are locked at 9 o'clock, except for those students with special permission. Each college has two protectors, assisted by helpers called "bulldozers," to enforce regulations.

After two months at Oxford, Miss Tutton went to France, Switzerland, where she attended the International school. She concluded her speech with several incidents about her stay in Geneva.

At the business meeting which preceded Miss Tutton's speech, tickets for the I. B. club plays to be given on March 14 and 15 were distributed.

The next meeting will be March 12, with Dr. Richard Evans as the speaker. He will discuss Irish Folklore.

TOWNSROTARY CLUB WILL SPONSOR BOY SCOUT TROOP IN KAUKAUNAHarvey Dix Is Named Assistant Scoutmaster for Troop No. 20

Kaukauna—Scoutmaster H. C. Ransley announced this week that the Kaukauna Rotary club will sponsor local scout troop 20 when it receives its new charter next week. The scouts are being sponsored by the Parent Teacher association at the present time.

Harvey Dix has been named assistant-scoutmaster for troop 20. Mr. Dix, a local youth, has been a boy scout for a number of years.

The local scouts received a streamer for having over 90 per cent of the troop at the boy scout rally last Saturday at Appleton. The streamer will be attached to the troop flag.

At the present time there are over 40 scouts in troop 20. This is the only troop in this city. Plans are being made by M. G. Clark, valley scout executive, and Scoutmaster Ransley to organize another troop composed of students of the St. Mary school.

At a meeting in the Park school Monday evening plans were discussed for attending scout night at the First Congregational church at Appleton Sunday. A movie will be presented on "Life of a Regular Boy Scout." Plans were also made to send several of the scouts to attend the Milwaukee scout circus Saturday.

The scoutmaster and two scouts will attend as guests of the valley council, but several other scouts also are planning to go.

Social Items

Kaukauna—The Women's Missionary society of the Immanuel Reformed church will meet at the parsonage on Sixth-st at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Final plans will be made for prayer day which the society will observe on Friday, Feb. 12.

The Rev. Roscoe Baarnes, pastor of the Methodist church, will give the third lecture of a series on church history at 7:30 Thursday evening. The subject will be on the period between the fourth and sixth centuries, which include the Rise of Mohammedanism. Plans are being made to have the Rev. R. Wortman, pastor of the Immanuel Reformed church, give a lecture on the series which deals with the beginning of the Reformation, at one of the meetings in the near future. Plans also are being made to have the Rev. R. Falk, pastor of the First Congregational church, give a lecture on the Puritan Reformation.

The Five-hundred club met at the home of Miss C. Mayer on Dixon-st Monday evening. Prizes at cards were won by Miss Carol Walker and Miss Wilma Arps. Lunch was served.

The Leisure Hour club met at the home of Mrs. John Huolihia, on Margaret-st Tuesday afternoon. Cards were played and prizes were won by Mrs. John Gillen, Mrs. Casper Foen, and Mrs. Joseph Derus. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Kline on Doty-st.

Miss Ramona Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Porter of Wisconsin Rapids and Harry Wilpolt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barney Wilpolt of this city, were married in Wisconsin Rapids Monday. Attendants were Miss Norma Bunde and Robert McClain, both of Wisconsin Rapids. The young couple will live at Wisconsin Rapids.

KAUKAUNA DEBATERS TO RESUME SCHEDULE

Kaukauna—The Kaukauna high school affirmative debate team will meet the Menasha negative debate team at 8 o'clock Thursday evening in the high school. The team won its first debate last Thursday from Algoma. Members of the team are Roland Eyer, Peter Hanson, Robert Grogan, Misses Alice Baigie, and Irene Landreman.

The negative debate team will go to Waupaca Thursday. The negative team also won its first debate of the season against Sturgeon Bay last Wednesday. Members of the team are Francis Grogan, Miss Dorothy Gouldin, Miss Alice May Whittier, John Huchner and Herman Naes.

The question of debate is that the direct primary for placing in nomination all state officers, United States senators and United States representatives should be abolished.

STUDENTS PRACTICING FOR FREE THROW MEET

Kaukauna—On Tuesday, Feb. 26, students of Kaukauna high school will hold a free throw contest in the auditorium after the first half of the Shawano Kaukauna basketball game which will be played that evening. Olin G. Dryer, principal, announced Tuesday. Each entrant will have 50 tries and the person making the most will be considered the free-throwing champion. A number of students are practicing for the contest.

The Post-Crescent's representative at Kaukauna is Lloyd Deras. His telephone number is 194-W. Business with The Post-Crescent may be transacted through Mr. Deras.

6 FAIR RESERVATIONS ARE MADE BY SCHOOLS

Kaukauna—Six reservations have been made for booths by rural schools, according to Olin G. Dryer, member of the committee of school exhibits of the Mid-Winter Fair to be held here Feb. 27, 28 and March 1. They are the Elmdale rural school, Miss Margaret Kronz, teacher; Little Chute rural school, Miss Agnes Egan, teacher; Ashwabeno rural school, Miss Louise Kurz, teacher; Twin Willows rural school, Miss Alice Wiedenhaupt, teacher; Speel rural school, Charles Eickhoff, teacher.

LITTLE INTEREST
IN SPRING ELECTIONShop Closing and Bus Controversy Holds Spotlight at Present

Kaukauna—Five city supervisors, five aldermen, two justices of peace and three school commissioners will be elected at the spring election Tuesday, April 2. Those whose terms will end are John Neisen Charles Wendt, William Powers, M. Strike and Fred Reichel, supervisors; W. H. Cooper, Bernard Faust, Earnest Landreman, George Smith and Frank Gertz, aldermen; L. E. Nelson, Mrs. J. Regettus and Edward Grebe, commissioners, and Nick Schwin and E. Zelund, justices of peace.

The length of the terms are three years. Papers for nomination must be filed with Louis Wolf, city clerk. Little interest is being taken in local politics at the present time, as most of talk is directed toward the railroad shop's closing on March 1 and discontinuation of inter-city bus service on March 15 unless some settlement is reached. Several of the present office holders indicated that the city will see a lively election.

INDUSTRIAL ART ADDS BILLIONS TO VALUE OF PRODUCTS

Exhibit in New York Shows Extent of New Trend in Manufacturing

(Art and the knowledge of art, it is estimated, are worth $30,000,000,000 a year in the value of American manufactures. In his dispatch today J. C. Boyle traces the direct effects in dollars and cents which new trends in decoration and new styles have had on the commerce of the country.)

BY J. T. ROYLE
Copyright, 1928.
New York—The suit now in progress regarding the authenticity of a picture alleged to be a product of Leonardo da Vinci has a far wider business angle than the $500,000 for which Sir Joseph Duveen is being sued and far wider than the value of the picture, no matter what it may bring. For it has a bearish influence on the progress and knowledge of art in America.

It is estimated that the vogue for colors, the demand for beauty of design, and the trend of fashion in various products have combined to bring about a situation where art and knowledge of it means not millions but billions in dollars, and cents to American producers and merchants. It is estimated by experts that no home is so humble that it may not contain objects of artistic value and of artistic beauty. One artist recently exhibited a series of these objects, not one of which cost more than ten cents.

Conservative estimates of the addition by art to the value of American manufactured products place the figure at $30,000,000,000 a year. The manufactured product of the country in 1928 exceeded $50,000,000,000 in value. Of this sum about $35,000,000,000 was represented by cost of raw materials while the remaining sum was added to the value by skill of manufacture and artistry of design.

GIVE DEMONSTRATION
Specific examples of the additions which art has made to manufacture were placed on view today in an exhibition at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. This was the eleventh exhibition of industrial art at the museum but the first of its kind. Heretofore objects have been exhibited which took their inspiration from museum objects. In the present exhibit the objects have been made by 150 designers who have worked a year under the direction of a committee of America's leading architects. Everything was designed specially to make the comprehensive whole which would convince the public how far industrial art has gone in this country and how fascinating it has become.

"There is nothing queer about this new style," said Robert W. DeForest, art authority and President of the Metropolitan Museum for 16 years. "It has in it the elements of practical use and good sense, which must be at the bottom of all good art. It is a reasonable interpretation of the needs and demands of our own day."

The displays are made in group settings. For example, there is a backyard garden, a man's study in a country house, a conservatory, a store window, a woman's bedroom, a child's nursery, a bath and dressing room, a salesroom, an apartment house entrance and a business office. Furniture, rugs, fabrics, china, light fixtures, glass, wall paper and thus and every other accessory has been designed to harmonize and beautify.

COLOR UTENSILS
This exhibit is but a single display of the effectiveness of art in industry and manufacture. The textile trades have profited to the utmost by means of color harmonies in recent months. This is especially true of the light woolsens, cottons and rayon fabrics. The makers of kitchen utensils have found sales improved by bright coloring of household utensils. The new trends in furniture have put the factories running at top speed, with special demands for tapestry, leather and artificial leather trimmings.

Eye appeals has sold more automobiles in the last year than almost any other single factor. Instead of having brown and gray houses the demand for color has led to the production of hexatremethylamine, formed from the hot boiling tar acids resulting from processing coal to make gas. This product can be produced in any color, is impervious to water, resistant to atmospheric corrosion and is an electric non-conductor. Moreover, it can be produced cheaper than the stone now used to veneer high steel buildings. Bakelite also is being produced in the widest variety of colors and in a remarkably varied list of products, from cigarette holders to furniture.

COMMODITY NOTES

OIL
Ft. Worth, Tex.—Survivors are locating a new pipe line for the Gulf company from the Winkler county oil field to Midland, Tex. At the latter point, a junction will be formed with the Gulf's trunk line, leading to the Gulf of Mexico, and with a tank farm. The new line will give an outlet for oil heretofore stored in Winkler earthen tanks.

RUBBER
Akron, O.—Tire demands for 1929 will run around 72,000,000 tires. President Harvey S. Firestone of the Firestone Tire & Rubber company estimates Akron produces sixty per cent of the country's tire output.

DAIRY PRODUCTS
Chicago—Severe weather has cut sharply into production of American dairy products.

The Inaugural Pageant

FROM WASHINGTON TO HOOVER

ZACHARY TAYLOR, 1849-'50
BY ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
(Associated Press Feature Writer)
Washington—(AP)—Window room on Pennsylvania avenue sold for $5 a head and the roofs of houses were covered with cheering spectators at the inaugural parade of Zachary (Old Rough and Ready) Taylor, hero of the Mexican war and twelfth president of the United States.

Apparently unaffected by the plaudits of the public, the blunt old warrior had made a triumphal journey from his plantation in Louisiana to Washington. Wearing a plain black suit, he stepped with soldierly stride into a carriage drawn by four handsome grey horses to ride from W. V. lard's hotel to the Capitol behind the men who had fought with him in the Indian and Mexican wars.

The procession halted at Irving's hotel, where James K. Polk, the retiring president, was handed into the carriage. General Taylor, a whiff, cordially shook hands with his democratic predecessor, a gesture in days of bitter political animosity which inspired the following comment by a Washington newspaper:

"The appropriateness and delicacy of this movement was duly appreciated by the multitude who witnessed it and there rang out spontaneously nine long and loud huzzas."

"Strains of martial music resounded throughout the city and hundreds of star-spangled banners of every fabric and dimension fluttered in the breeze," says a contemporary account of the inaugural "Bells" of the city rang out a stirring peal and long before the usual breakfast hour immense masses of people were wending their way to the avenue and the capitol. Every window was completely blocked with heads.

"In the gallery of the senate chamber there was a bank of female faces, the rustling of silks and the clatter of fans. In the rush up the gallery stairs three ladies faint from the heat and pressure. Approaching the portico to take the solemn oath General Taylor saluted those near him with an air of frankness and good will."

There were special sales of wines while the Sons of Temperance, marching in the procession. There was a raffle at Apollo hall of a case of "superb dueling pistols" said to have been made expressly for the Duke of Buckingham and purchased at auction when his effects were sold. William Dibble of 263 Broadway New York, set up a temporary beauty parlor at Pennsylvania avenue and Four and a half street to do "ladies hair dressing for the grand inaugural ball."

A competitor of the shop of Madame Devourges, hairdresser extraordinary of Baltimore. At the inaugural ball, "fairy forms floated to the music" of the waltz, quadrille, polka and gallopade. Apropos of the loss of wearing apparel at the ball, a paragraph of the day said: "Many a bad old hat has gone to an evening party and come out good as new."

A glimpse of the informality of the White House during the Taylor regime is given by D. W. Mitchell, a contemporary.

"Perhaps few scenes in the United States would impress a stranger more favorably than one often to be witnessed at Washington on a summer evening.

"The Marine band is playing excellent music in the garden of the White House, everybody walking in and out with restriction; the president perhaps strolling on the lawn among the company, ready to shake hands with anybody who chooses to introduce himself, or whom any citizen, however humble, may please to introduce."

Large Scale

Charles Clune, town of Buchanan farmer, pleaded guilty in municipal court Tuesday afternoon of violating the state dry law and Judge Theodore Berg imposed a fine of $500 and costs, totaling $528.

The judge said that the reason he imposed such a heavy sentence on Clune was because the moonshine manufacturing apparatus which officers discovered in the small shack on Clune's property indicated that the illegal operations were being carried on in a large scale.

Clune did not pay his fine at once but he promised to do so on Wednesday.

The Buchanan farmer was arrested Monday afternoon when Sheriff Ernest Conrad and Deputy Sheriff George Long raided a hut at the edge of a small wooded plot on the Clune property. In the hut the raiders discovered a 75-gallon still, 800 gallons of mash, six gallons of whiskey, a stove and a pressure tank.

There was no one in the place when the raiders arrived after tramping through deep snow from the road to the hut, a half mile. Clune, however, was arrested because the hut was on his land.

STAGE And SCREEN

RIOTOUS COMEDY OF YOUTH
COMES AS "LITTLE WILDCAT"

Modern youth has its inning in Warner Bros. "The Little Wildcat," the all-star comedy now playing at Brin's Appleton Theatre.

Three of the screen's most promising youngsters head the cast. Audrey Ferris, Doris Dawson and James Murray make up the trio. The addition of those inimitable character actors, George Fawcett and Robert Edson, and the ingratiating presence of Hallan Cooley makes an unbeatable cast for this delightful picture.

Miss Ferris and Miss Dawson appear as granddaughters of George Fawcett, who has the role of a cantankerous but lovable old Southern gentleman whose fiery temper keeps the household in perpetual unrest. Commercial aviation is his pet aversion, and his granddaughters' flirtatious efforts to capture a flier thus bring about a crisis in the old Dixie mansion.

"The Little Wildcat" is a comedy-drama of the fast-moving type with many laughable situations hinging on the jealousy of the two girls, and on ludicrous banterings of Fawcett and Edson, appearing as the former's personal servant.

Ray Knight directed. E. T. Lowe, Jr., based his scenario on Gene Wright's original story.

Airport Chatter

Development of McCoy field at Dodge City, Kas., is progressing in line with the program laid out some months ago. The airport was dedicated in September, and is to be a terminal of the Transcontinental Air Transport line when operations get under way late in the spring.

Municipal authorities of Ottumwa, Iowa, are advocating the establishment of a rotating beacon on the Ottumwa municipal airport. The National Air Transport is interested in the project because of poor visibility over this area. The beacon would aid fliers on the route in making night landings.

Paducah, Ky., is to establish a municipal airport. Several sites have been selected tentatively and a committee, appointed by the mayor, is to make a complete study of the merits of each site. Plans are to complete the airport, for early spring operations.

The board of county supervisors of Muskegon county, Michigan, has been given the recommendations of a chamber of commerce committee appointed to study the problems of establishing a combined land and seaplane airport for the city and county. A hearing on the committee's recommendations has been set for late January.

Commercial interests are studying the advisability of establishing a commercial airport in Virginia, about eight miles from Washington. The area available consists of 150 acres of level land and is situated on a main highway. Those interested in the development say that such an airport, if established, would be a valuable adjunct to the proposed Washington municipal airport.

The Belen, N. M., chamber of commerce recently established an airport in that city. The field has been named Gochel airport since Belen is the native city of the famous Dole flier. Improvements are to be effected as soon as funds are available.

The Standard Oil company of Indiana recently completed the air marking of 21 of its stations in the central states. The total air markings erected by this company is rapidly approaching 2,000, with future plans calling for the marking of all buildings owned by the organization.

The report of the airway marking committee, in session in Washington since June, soon will be released for publication in the interests of pilots flying the airways. The report is designed to standardize the marking of airports and airways.

MICHIGAN LEGISLATOR IS ILL AT HOSPITAL

Lansing, Mich.—(AP)—Representative John Holland of Bessemer, Mich., senior member of the house of representatives, in point of service, is seriously ill in a hospital here. An influenza attack kept him from Lansing during the early weeks of the session. He reported late in January, but suffered a relapse. Mr. Holland is serving his eighth term.

EXPECT IMPROVED AIR MAIL SERVICE

Holman, Airways Pilot, Says Weather Conditions Are Abnormal

Hope that as soon as weather conditions again become normal and airports are opened throughout the valley, mail planes will be able to keep to their regular schedule was expressed by Charles "Speed" Holman, chief pilot for the North American Airways company in a recent conversation with David Smith, chairman of the chamber of commerce air mail committee.

There has been an unusual amount of snow this year in the opinion of Mr. Holman and for that reason mail planes have been snowed in and the mail planes handicapped. With the irregular schedule air mail users have been reluctant to use the speedier service and there has been a noticeable falling off in amount of mail carried.

However, Appleton still is holding its own, according to Mr. Holman's statements, but Neenah-Menasha dispatches have become less and less. If conditions had been favorable all season the route through the valley would have been one of the most profitable.

Orange Five Drubs Kaukauna Tuesday Night, 20 To 6

LOAF DURING FIRST PERIOD BUT STAGE STRONG COMEBACK

Gochbauer Is Scoring Ace in Second Win Over Kaw Quintet

BY LLOYD J. DERUS
KAUKAUNA—Losing games is becoming a habit with Coach Elmer Ott's Kaukauna high school basketball team. It was just another defeat added to the no win column when Appleton high school team smothered them under a 20 to 6 score Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium.

The Appletonians seemed to realize that they were having an easy time beating the Kaw and as a result the game dragged a bit during the first half. But Coach J. Shields told them something during the intermission that sent them into the second half with new life. A smooth working team with plenty of pep against a losing fighting Kaukauna five made the last half a bit more exciting.

Gochbauer was the outstanding player of the evening. He had an easy time slipping through the Kaukauna defense to tally six baskets and one free throw. This was 13 of the 20 Appleton points. Schaefer and Kuntz were the only other Shieldsmen to net baskets, one apiece.

Captain K. Farwell played the best game of the year for Kaukauna. He was the main reason that Appleton was unable to double the score of twenty. He netted one basket and one free throw for the locals.

Twelve fouls were called by the referee during the game, seven on Kaukauna and five on Appleton. They indicated the fight between the two teams during the fray. The low ceiling seemed to handicap Appleton very little. The team did not try many long shots but worked the ball near the basket before making losses.

Appleton made the first score soon after the game began when Gochbauer made a free throw on a foul on Main. Landreman evened up the score shortly after on a similar offense called on an Appleton player. Gochbauer then got started on his scoring spree by shooting a basket. Appleton passes were well executed from the front court again until just before the end of the quarter when Schaefer tallied. The quarter ended 5 to 1.

Main Kaw guard, started the scoring in the second quarter by netting a pretty basket just beyond mid-floor. The Kawmen broke through the Appleton defense several times but were unable to locate the hoop. Appleton scored three points during the quarter and the half ended 8 to 3.

A different Appleton team started the second half. The passing was fast and the team play smooth. Within a short time the score had climbed to 13 to 3. Kaukauna's weakness in locating the hoop again became apparent when a number of good shots were missed. The Appleton offense was plugged for a time, but the wily Gochbauer always managed to slip down the side of the floor for passes and the result was Kaukauna stayed on the short end of a long count.

The last quarter was a duplicate of the third. The Kaukauna team showed signs of coming back from the quarters of fighting a team that greatly outclassed them. Farwell, Kaw forward, dribbled the ball from his own territory through the entire Appleton team for a neat basket making the prettiest play of the fracas. Coach Shields was using a large number of utility men as the game ended with Kaukauna on the small end of a 20 to 6 count.

In the preliminary game the Appleton seconds bested the Kaukauna seconds and trampled over them with a 30 to 7 score.

BADGERS REOPEN CAGE SEASON WITH WIN OVER BRADLEY

Offense Starts Slowly but Scores 20 Points in 13 Minutes

MADISON—(P)—Wisconsin's Badgers, in their last non-conference basketball game of the season, decisively defeated the Bradley Polytechnic institute five 48-22 here Tuesday night. The score was the largest made by a Wisconsin team in more than five years.

After a Bradley scrabbled the lead at the outset of the game, when Duke sank a free throw and Foster fouled him, the Wisconsin offense got underway and took a lead that was never headed. After eight minutes of play, Wisconsin was out in front, 10 to 9. Then the passing, blocking, five game started to function and the score was 26 to 13 at the half.

Lycan Miller, the La Crosse forward, played his best game last night, getting five field goals and many free throws to be high point man.

Starting off slowly, the Badgers' offense did not gain momentum until late in the first half, when, with the score 10-9 in Wisconsin's favor, Foster made a free throw. Miller added a field goal to move ahead 15 to 9. Miller then added six points and Foster, five, to give the Badgers a substantial lead.

In the second half, Wisconsin ran the score from 28 to 15 to 48 to 18 in 13 minutes of play, Miller and Tenhopen featuring the attack. Meanwhile, Bradley desperately attempted to score, but two free throws were the best the Illinois boys could get.

With seven minutes remaining, Dr. W. E. Meenwell removed his regulars and Bradley made two field goals.

Others Come And Go But Four Managers Stay On

NEW YORK—Baseball's famous managerial quartet of McGraw, Robinson, Mack and Huggins are getting ready for another pre-season training jaunt.

These four have been making the yearly trips south for quite some time; in fact, are the only managers in the majors who can boast of ten or more seasons in their present positions.

The pair of Macs' claim the longest regimes. McGraw has been piloting the Giants since the middle of the 1902 campaign, while Mack has bossed the Athletics since 1901.

Robinson took charge of the Dodgers in 1914 and Huggins made his debut with the Yankees in 1918.

McGraw, Mack and Huggins have turned in enviable records down through the years.

The leader of the Giants has brought ten pennants and three world championships to his team and is the old leader who has capped four flags in a row. His club has failed only twice to finish out of the first division. Seldom has he finished lower than third.

Mack hasn't won a pennant since he broke up his great team back in 1914, but previous to that he had won six flags and three world titles.

Huggins, since assuming charge of the Yankees, has won six pennants and three world titles. His Yankees have grabbed every American League flag in the past eight years but those in 1924 and 1925, which Washington won.

Robinson has two pennant winners to his credit, one in 1916 and the other in 1920. He never, however, has won a world series.

Oddly enough, Robinson and McGraw were in the younger league before joining the older organization, and Mack and Huggins made their start in the National League before becoming affiliated with American League clubs.

was preparing for his bout with Frank Klaus in New York. Little Bright Eyes in the middle, unblushingly sporting button shoes, signed checks. George (Honeyboy) Evans. His fame as a minstrel leader remains undimmed before the scythe of time. The gentleman on the extreme left, supporting considerable bulk on a walking stick, is Germany Schaefer, who used to spear the hot ones around second base for the Detroit Tigers. Number 2, legs crossed and a ten-cent El Smoko in his hand is Stanley Ketchel. Middleweight champion of the world at the time, Ketchel was a popular backer of all sports events. The setting is Happy Hollow, Hot Springs, Ark. This group, during a short period of the year 1909, paid rent at the old Arlington Hotel. The only one of the five alive today is he who day after day touched the hem of Death's garments—Barney Oldfield. He proved to be too tough a problem for the dangers of automobile racing. Ketchel died with his boots on and, incidentally, a knife and fork in his hands. A pistol blast hastened the static king to his Valhalla.

Around The Sport World

HUG WON'T TESTIFY
MILLER HUGGINS, the small pitcher of the Yankees, is too big a fellow to be caught in the middle of one of the revived arguments about the greatest ball club of all times and the greatest players of history.

Ed Barrow, the business manager of the club, went on record with his opinions recently and his opinion put the Babe fourth on the list of the great ball players of all time.

After Mr. Barrow's opinions had been published there were unkind comments made that he was talking through the cash register. It was pointed out that the Babe was in the last year of his $70,000 a year contract and that it wouldn't do the business manager any harm to put the Babe in his proper place.

THE DOUGH ALWAYS TELLS
But little Huggins would not be put on the stool to testify against his ball player. He found a crafty way of expressing himself.

"To rate the class of all the present and old time stars because they all played under conditions and circumstances that were not similar. 'I don't know who was the best ball player of all times, but I have another way of putting the question. Supposing that Ruth, Fagner, Cobb, Speaker and Lajoie were all in their prime at the present moment and that they were put on the market for sale. Which of the players do you think would command the greatest money? I think that the bidding for Ruth and Cobb would be the most spirited and I could only ease myself out of the problem by buying both of them.'"

GOOD FOR TWENTY YEARS
Talking about his Babe, Huggins expressed the opinion that his big fellow ought to have three or four more good years left. "If the Babe slows up as a fielder he always will be valuable as a hitter," he said. "And if that ten-man idea ever goes through, the Babe ought to be good for twenty years."

WOMEN BOWLERS PLAN ANNUAL TOURNAMENT
About 20 members of the Appleton Women's club bowling league met Monday evening and made plans for their annual tournament to be held on the Arcade alleys, Mar. 18, and 25 and April 1. The tourney will be governed by handicap rules.

Members of the league also discussed plans for their annual banquet which will be held at 6:30 the evening of April 18. Committees to handle details soon will be announced.

YANKS WERE GOOD THEN
"I think the Yankees," the Hug said, "were the greatest ball club I ever saw when they were in that tough series against the Athletics last season. But that doesn't make them the greatest ball club of all times because you have to judge a ball club over a whole season's time or two or three seasons. I don't know which was the greatest ball club of all time, because as I say, conditions have changed and there is no way of telling what some of the old-time ball clubs would do with this fast ball that we are using now or what the real good ball clubs of today would have been able to do with the old slow ball that the Orioles had to hit. Perhaps the ball clubs today would suffer by comparison. But I can't agree with Ed Barrow that the 1919 White Sox were the greatest of all teams."

SOME SWEET PICTURES HERE
"I think Lajoie and Beaumont were two of the most graceful ball players I ever have seen," Huggins said. "And no one ever had the genius of Marty Bergen as a catcher. As for pitchers you can't compare them. You couldn't leave Cy Young off any list of great pitchers, nor Matty, nor Pennock, nor Johnson, nor Alexander. They were individualists and there is no way of deciding which one was the greatest. It is all a matter of personal opinion and one opinion is just as good as another."

HALVERSON LEADS LITTLE 4 SCORERS
Martin, Ripon, and Biggers, Lawrence Tied for Second

Ripon—Ripon's big racket of the hardwoods, Cliff Halverson, forward and former captain of Coach Rippe's quintet, jumped into a commanding lead in the Little Four conference scoring race when he annexed a total of eleven points in the Lawrence-Ripon game Monday. Halverson is holding a lead of twelve points over Martin, Ripon, and Biggers, Lawrence, who are tied for second place.

In four conference games, the Ripon sharpshooter has averaged nine points, his dizzy scoring pace falling in the recent Carroll tilt when the tight Armstrong defense held him scoreless. Biggers, Viking ace, with only two games to his credit, averaged twelve points in the Carroll and Beloit engagements. Due to an injury he was unable to participate in the Ripon-Lawrence fray.

Following are ten leading Little Four scorers:

Halverson, Ripon	4	16	4	36

JAPS MAY VISIT UNITED STATES TO SEE SERIES

Nipponese Interested in Seeing Rogers Hornsby Perform

BY JOHN B. FOSTER
Special Leased Wire
Copyright, 1929

NEW YORK—When the 1929 world series is played Japan plans to send to this country one of the largest delegations that has visited a baseball series from a foreign land in the history of the national game.

Arrangements are now being undertaken to provide facilities for a delegation of fans from Tokyo, Osaka and other cities to make the trip. There will be at least 25 in the party and perhaps more.

The party will land at San Francisco or Seattle and proceed east by special train that will take them direct to Chicago. If the world series is played in Chicago—in case the Cubs win the National league pennant—the Japanese travelers will think themselves in good luck, as they are eager to see Rogers Hornsby.

Recently Japan had a visit from Ty Cobb and now they want Babe Ruth and Hornsby and other leading players of the United States to sail over to the land of the rising sun.

The visit of Cobb and others to Japan was a losing venture, but the weather in Japan was adverse to baseball. Also, the fact that the United States did not have a regular team was a disappointment to the Japanese enthusiasts, who wished to see their players in action against picked players from America.

Among the Japanese fans who are arranging to come to the United States next fall are four or five of the leading players outside of the colleges. They desire to study the manner in which players here handle themselves on the diamond. They are particularly eager to see this series because its fame has been accelerated all over the Japanese empire.

More Japanese college teams are to come to the United States this spring and a longer trip has been planned for them than any that has been arranged in the past.

The Japanese realize that they are probably too weak as batmen to make headway against the leading professional teams of the United States, but they think they can develop their batting. They want to put on a great international match between the two countries when they have progressed a little further.

The Americans who were in Japan last fall say the fielding of the players is as good as, or better than, it has ever been. In that respect the Japanese players might hold their own, but they cannot bat as hard as American players and their pitchers, though good are not as sure about curves.

The Kimberly Clubs 30 to 9 victory over the Citizens National Bank team was the only thing of interest in the games played in the Y. M. C. A. Industrial league Tuesday evening, except that the Kimberly-Clark basketball team of Neenah went into a tie for first honors with Coated Paper when the Neenah aggregation handed Fox River Paper company a 21 to 12 drubbing.

The Citizens bank team lost its game because it couldn't shoot baskets. The team members counted but four field goals all evening, only one being chalked up in the first half. Kimberly Club on the other hand rattled up 15 field goals, not a point coming as the result of free throws. Gossens was high point man with four goals in the second half.

Fox River Paper offered comparatively little opposition to the Kimberly-Clark team and trailed at the end of the first half 9 and 5, all the losers' points coming from R. Tornow's shooting. In the second half, Tornow continued to toss a few more field goals aided by a lone counter from Sonny Tornow and a free throw by Aderhold. Two baskets each by K. Olsen, Klutz, and Gaertner put the invaders ahead and gave them a victory.

New York—While Knute Rockne is spending some of his time these winter months selling a well known make of motor car he is not neglecting football.

About one comparatively poor team every four or five years is about all this famous coach can stand. He thrives on success mentally and in other ways. Failure in football, or anything, is not in Rock's scheme of life. The top wave is the only position in which he is happy and at ease.

Knute does not, however, expect to burn up the gridiron next fall. He counts on having what he terms "a fair" eleven. And certainly he should have this, what with a promising array of freshman material eager to show its stuff.

Probably Rockne's prediction that the team will be only "fair", is based upon the departure from the backfield of such gifted ball packers as Niemce, Collins and Elder and from the line, Leppig, a cracking good celebrated all over the Japanese empire.

More Japanese college teams are to come to the United States this spring and a longer trip has been planned for them than any that has been arranged in the past.

The Japanese realize that they are probably too weak as batmen to make headway against the leading professional teams of the United States, but they think they can develop their batting. They want to put on a great international match between the two countries when they have progressed a little further.

The Americans who were in Japan last fall say the fielding of the players is as good as, or better than, it has ever been. In that respect the Japanese players might hold their own, but they cannot bat as hard as American players and their pitchers, though good are not as sure about curves.

Kimberly-Clark Goes Into Tie In "Y" League

The Kimberly Clubs 30 to 9 victory over the Citizens National Bank team was the only thing of interest in the games played in the Y. M. C. A. Industrial league Tuesday evening, except that the Kimberly-Clark basketball team of Neenah went into a tie for first honors with Coated Paper when the Neenah aggregation handed Fox River Paper company a 21 to 12 drubbing.

The Citizens bank team lost its game because it couldn't shoot baskets. The team members counted but four field goals all evening, only one being chalked up in

BERG HIGH SCORER IN VALLEY LEAGUE AFTER WEST GAME

Orange Forward Has Counted 17 Field Goals and 15 Free Throws

NORBERT BERG, forward on Coach Joseph Shields, Appleton high school basketball team stepped into the lead among high scorers in the valley conference last Friday evening when he capped seven field goals and one free throw for 15 points. The week previous he crashed into a position at third place with 16 points resulting from eight free throws and four baskets. The Appleton forward also leads the league in number of free throws made. He has counted 17.

The sport which the sensational Orange forward has taken is noted by the points the high have scored in the last couple weeks. Formerly a team which depended upon its defense to top, the Orange now is both a defensive and offensive team.

But leading scorers in the valley haven't rested on the top long and Friday night when Berg takes his suit to East Green Bay he will be to battle with Meyers of the Red and White to hold his lead, and they'll both have to battle to keep out Kuppil of Manitowish. Berg has 49 points, Meyers 47 and Kuppil 46.

The leading scorer's follow:

Appleton has climbed into third place among valley league teams in the latest records show, or at the head of the group, excepting Manitowish and Oshkosh. And no doubt the critics will point out that as they again recall that the Orange has a so-called "pipe schedule."

WEST DEVELOPING NEW MIDDLEWEIGHT

Pete Meyers Becomes Famous After Beating Sammy Baker

BY JOHN J. ROMANO
Special Correspondent

San Francisco—Another son of San Francisco promises to ascend to a high place in the boxing world. Pete Meyers, a blond-haired youth of 21 years who got his early training battling the kids in his neighborhood, astounding his home town fans a few nights ago by putting the courageous Sergeant Sammy Baker on his back in the sixth round of a scheduled ten-round battle.

Meyers had to display an abundance of everything against Baker. His punch was a contest threat to the soldier; his boxing was superior to his opponent and he proved his sameness by coming back after it appeared that he was on his way to defeat.

Spectators describe the affair as one of the greatest bouts seen here in years. Baker was on the floor five times. The stout-hearted veteran fought made as courageous a losing stand as was ever seen in these parts.

Meyers is a husky lad and in the future will box as a middleweight. He weighed 150 pounds against Baker, but he had trouble holding down to that figure. Two weeks before he whipped the army sergeant, Meyers met "Young" Corbett, the Fresno southpaw, and held him to a draw. Pete weighed 147 pounds for that fight, and had to shed a pound from his frame a few minutes before the official weigh-in.

New York—Johnny Dundee, Baltimore, outpointed Lou Macortez, New York, (10.)

Los Angeles—Bert Coloma, White, Cal., defeated Johnny Gill, of York, Pa., (40.)

Jacksonville—Sully Montgomery, Texas, stopped Big Sid Terry north Carolina, (4.)

Bellevue, Fla.—Ernesto Sagues, Chile, drew with Bobby Marriotti, Philadelphia, (5.)

The Phillies will take George Sheffert, former Foodham catcher, to training camp this spring for a trial.

DOUBLES, SINGLES LEADERS CHANGED AT KEGLING MEET

A. Peterson-L. Mertz Take Second Place in Two Man Event

SHERBOYGAN—(P)—The ranks of the doubles and singles leaders were subjected to a drastic reshuffle Tuesday, although the top match teams in all events managed to survive the spirited blasting competition by crack Fond du Lac and Milwaukee leading areas.

A. Peterson and L. Mertz of Fond du Lac, rolled into second place among the pace netters in the two men event, narrowly missing first place by four pins. They had 469, 418 and 407 for a total of 1294. Peterson contributed 650 of the total and Mertz had 644. Peterson also came through with a 279 count in his opening game.

Pressing the Fond du Lac dou for second place honors were W. Butler and F. Maguire of Milwaukee, with a substantial 1,278. Their games showed 862, 502 and 504. Maguire had 604.

P. Benkovic of Milwaukee, came through with 691 in his singles to place second. His games were 238, 236 and 222. The next best singles mark was a 670 by J. Koek, of Milwaukee, followed by 665 by J. Sobolowski, also of Milwaukee.

Tournament leaders:

CHICAGO CAGE MEET MAY BE ABANDONED

A. A. Stagg's Tournament Doesn't Meet With Educator's Favor

Chicago—(P)—"Finis" may be written on the University of Chicago's national interscholastic high school basketball tournament after the eleventh prep classic the first week in April.

A. A. Stagg, founder and sponsor of the tourney, is ready to abandon the event that last year attracted 42 championship fights from 38 states. If Stagg does not decide to abolish the tournament the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations may withdraw its national aspect at its meeting in Cleveland Feb. 25.

Stagg does not intend to fight the national federation, "I have no desire to foster a tournament that does not meet with the approval of the high school educators," he said Wednesday.

Other officials of the university, however, are said to be planning an outlaw tournament if the national body disapproves of the year's event. The national federation, while having no power to abolish the tournament, can refuse its sanction on an action that would forbid any of its 31 state members from entering. The federation has already sanctioned the 1929 tournament.

In an effort to determine the attitude of the high school principals, C. W. Whitten, secretary of the national organization, has mailed queries to 8,000 principals all over the country. The queries will be used in determining the final action of the body at Cleveland.

Kansas, producer of two national championship teams, has withdrawn its financial support from the team entering from that state but has not forbidden it to participate. Other states are said to be contemplating similar action.

BELOIT, CARROLL TO PLAY WEDNESDAY

Downstaters Also Make Trip into Illinois This Week

Beloit—Three hard games are ahead of Coach Roy Bohler and Beloit cage squad this week. Carroll comes here Wednesday and on Friday and Saturday Beloit goes into central Illinois to meet Knox and Monmouth, respectively.

Intensive practice has been held ever since last Friday night when the Beloit squad went to pieces and lost by a large score to Ripon. The game showed the coach several things, however, one being that Beloit still is somewhat green, with only two men of experience playing.

Capt. Louis Bottino and Dick Warren. The others who make up the regular squad—Taylor, Jack Beloit and Stipe or Musher, are having their first taste of varsity ball this year.

Carroll, about a month ago, saw Beloit's first taste of victory this season, and Beloiters are hoping to again trounce the Waukesha outfit. Hopes for victory in the Knox and Monmouth contests, especially Monmouth, are not so high, however.

BADGER, GOPHER PUCK TEAMS MEET THURSDAY

Madison—Envi Iversen's brilliant Minnesota hockey team, winner of the Western conference championship last season, will invade Madison Wednesday night to meet Wisconsin in the first of a two-game series. The second battle is slated for Thursday evening, and both games will start at 7:30 o'clock on the lower campus rink.

Minnesota has hung up its usual early season record of victories and is a favorite to add another Big Ten title this year.

Coach Johnny Parquhar of the Badgers will send his most powerful lineup on the ice Wednesday night. Many believe the Badgers' starting lineup in the Minnesota series began a year ago when Wisconsin defeated the Gophers, 2-1 in an overtime game and came back the next night to tie the visitors, 1-1 in another scrap that lasted longer than the regulation period.

SCHAEFER OUSTS JAPANESE CUE STAR

Billiard Title Sure to Return to United States This Year

New York—The world's 132 balke billiard crown, worn since last March by Edouard Horremans, of Belgium, is to come back to the United States. Welker Cochran, of Hollywood, and Young Jake Schaefer, of Chicago, clash Wednesday night in the final match of the round robin tournament at the Level club with the championship going to the winner.

Schaefer eliminated the last of the four foreign entrants when he defeated Kinsey Matsuyama, 400 to 331, Tuesday afternoon. It was the second reverse for the game little Japanese, who won his first three matches in brilliant style. His other defeat was at Cochran's hands in a grueling battle Monday night.

His triumph over Matsuyama elevated Schaefer into a tie with Cochran for the lead with only their own duel still on the schedule. The two Americans each have won three matches in four starts.

Defeating Eric Hassenbacher of Germany, 400 to 315, in 20 innings Tuesday night, Horremans concluded his tournament record with three victories and two defeats, placing him in a tie for third place with Matsuyama. Both will automatically go into a tie for second place with the loser of Wednesday night's match. Prize money in the case of ties will be distributed, however, on the basis of grand averages. Hagenbacher winds up in fourth place, with two triumphs in five starts. Felix Grange of France is the cellar holder with five successive reverses.

Your Income Tax

Number 9
Gross income, as defined by Treasury regulations, "includes in general, compensation for personal and professional services, profits in sales and dealing in property, interest, rents, dividends, and gains, profits, and income derived from any source whatever, unless exempt from tax by law."

The gross income of the usual business consists of the gross profits on sales, plus any income from investments and incidental or outside operations or sources. The return must show the gross sales, purchases, and cost of goods sold. To reflect net income correctly inventories are necessary at the beginning and end of each taxable year.

A lawyer, doctor, architect, author, dentist, clergyman, or other professional man must include in gross income all fees, salaries, and compensation for professional services.

The farmer is required to report in his gross income all profits derived from the sale or exchange of farm products and livestock, whether produced on the farm or purchased and resold. The fair market value of merchandise or groceries received in exchange for farm products must be included. Also profits from renting a farm on the crop-share plan and the rental and sale of farm lands.

Education, Common Sense Help Fishing In Britain

BY B. A. CLAFLIN

There are more people in the limited regions of the British Isles than in any territory of equal size in the world where civilization prevails and yet wild life holds its own. Within 10 to 15 miles of London trout fishing is enjoyed regularly. And there is no limit as to number one may take in a day.

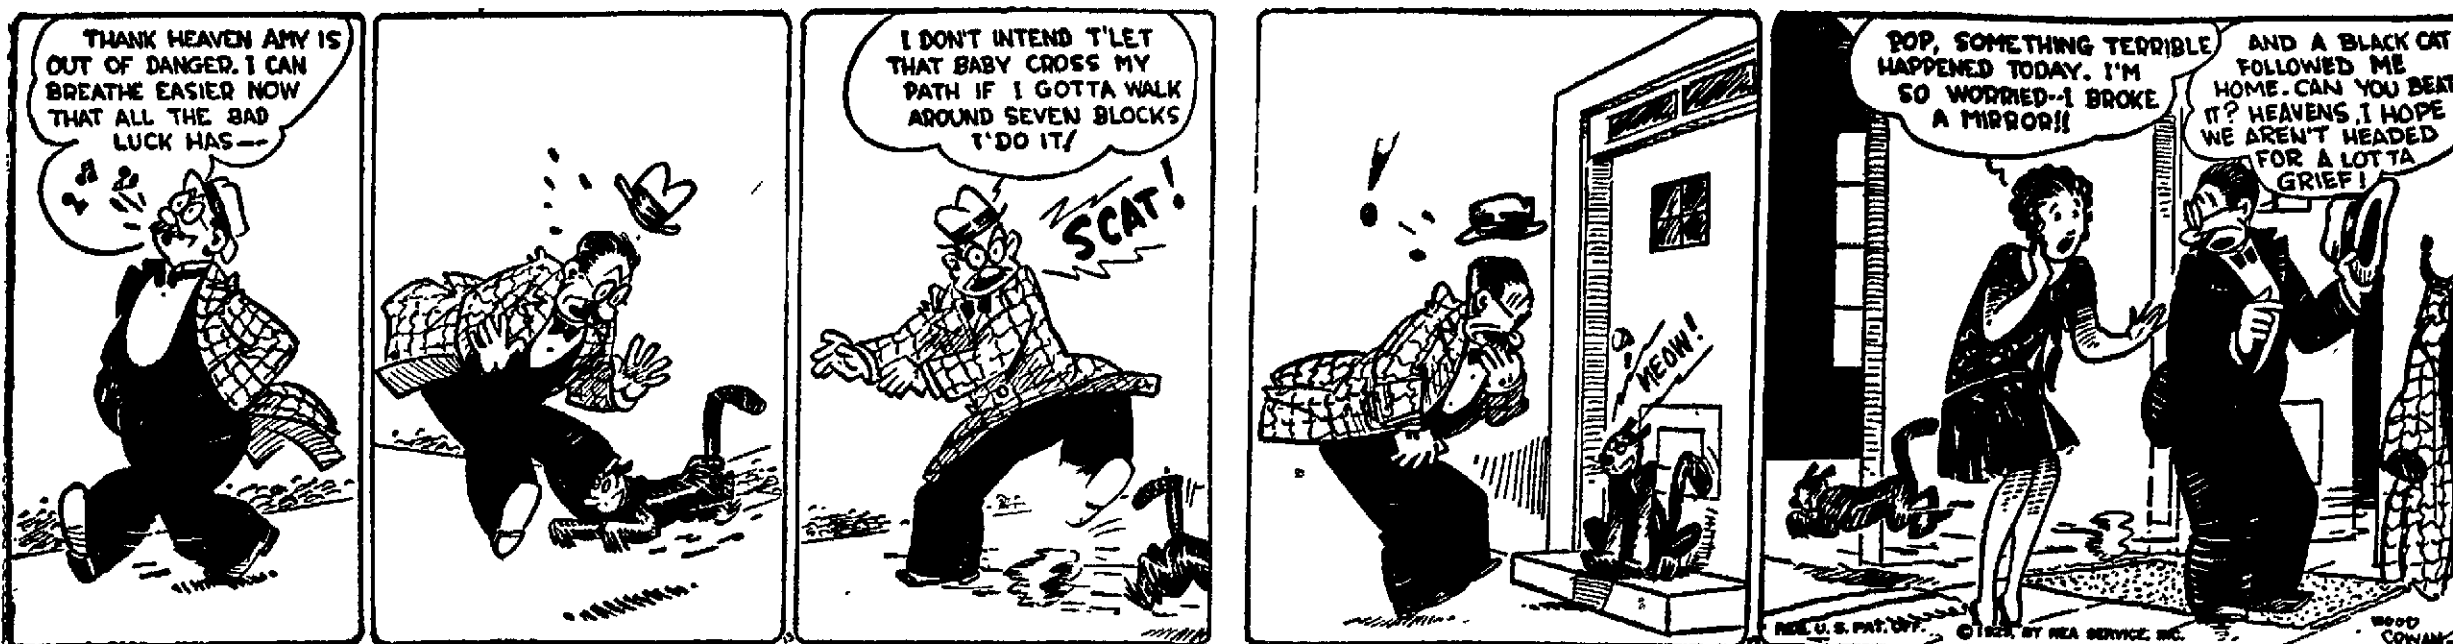

We, of aridistic America, cannot comprehend such a situation. How is it that such a paradoxical state of affairs can exist? More fishermen, no limit on fish, no

Grizel Hume

When Grizel's father, Sir Patrick Hume, took refuge in the family grave in Polwarth church, soldiers, after a thorough search of the castle and the neighborhood, concluded he had fled. However, the troops lingered in the neighborhood, which made the problem of feeding him a difficult one.

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1923-28.

Night after night brave little Grizel carried food to her fugitive father in the church vaults.

So that not even the servants would know what she was about, Grizel smuggled food from her own plate into her lap.

Once she came near being discovered. Her mother gave her a bountiful plateful and presently one of her brothers, who had not been trusted with the secret, noticed that practically the whole supply had disappeared. He chided her and called the attention of the others to what he thought was her greediness.

ANOTHER SMILE FOR TODAY

ANSWER THAT!
THE SHEIK: Dearest, can't you see my heart's on fire?
HIS ONLY HOPE: Well, do I look like a fire extinguisher?—Answers.
WELL, SAID, GEORGE
"Well, George," said a country clergyman to an old man who sat by the wayside breaking stones, "that pile doesn't seem to get any smaller."
"No, vicar," replied the old man, "them stones is like the Ten Commandments; you can go on breaking 'em, but you can't get rid of 'em."—Tit-Bits.
HOT DOGS!
For over half an hour a small boy had been persistently whistling outside the butcher's shop. Finally, the butcher could stand it no longer. He rushed out into the street.
"Stop making that confounded noise, you little wretch!" he shouted.
"I've lost me dog," said the boy.
"Well, do you think I've got your dog, then?"
"I dunno," muttered the boy. "But every time I whistle those sausages of yours come on!"—Answers.

No More Games Likely This Year—but Two Teams May Be Formed for 1930

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—Owing to the lateness of the season it is improbable that the New London hockey team will engage in any further matched games during the remainder of the season, but so jubilant are the players over their victory on Sunday, which resulted in a score of 41 to 0, for New London against Waupaca, that they are making plans for next year. Members of the puck-chasing squad believe that enough excellent material can be gathered together here to make up two teams, one to play in the city on every Sunday, the other to meet out of town teams. In the event that this could be accomplished, as was true during the present season, the two teams could then engage in play against one another and a good amount of sport could be derived.

Men of the team believe that iceing the municipal park would prove better than the river. Here a permanent rink could be maintained, bounding boards be placed and shelter be provided.

The game on Sunday, fans declare, proves that the New London players "clicked" in a high manner, goals being made by Halverson, Dexter, Svedy and Ross.

NEW LONDON SOCIETY

MUSIC PRODUCTION IS SET FOR MONDAY AT CLINTONVILLE

"Jerry of Jericho Road" Is Title of This Year's High School Program

Special to Post-Crescent

Clintonville—The annual musical entertainment by the music department of the Clintonville high school will be given at the Grand theatre on Monday evening, Feb. 18. "Jerry of Jericho Road" is the title of this year's production. Some sixty children will take part in the play under the direction of Mrs. Helen Taft Hanson. Miss Elaine Roach will be the accompanist. Following is a list of the characters and choruses:

Uncle Pete, An old time westerner, Franklin Haven.

Alan O'Day, Young owner of Peasland Rock Ranch, Ralph Ziemei.

Geraldine Bank, Known as Jerry, Genace Carlson.

John Drayton, Alan's cousin, Florian Rabe.

Miami, a flapper, Dorothy Carter.

Dora, Mimi's cousin, Dorothy Holmes.

Cornelius Bean, from Boston, Robert Esnay.

Amos Bank, an easterner, Roy Hughes.

Lettie Bank, his wife, Ann McLaughlin.

Sandy Bank, their daughter, Faye Besserdich.

Unter, a detective, Jack Kelley.

Riding chorus—Dorothy Spearbraker, Ramona Kutz, Blanche Christenson, Violet Barker, Harriet Quail.

Litter chorus—Jane Wartinebe, Margaret Zick, Louise Krussack, Nione Lang, Veryl Eberhardt.

Minuet chorus—Helen Heuer, Cynthia Marson, June Spearbraker, Donald Olen, Clifford Christenson, Herbert Finch.

Ghosts—Arlene Raisler, Clavia Elvieside, Pearl Schroeder, Helen Washburn, Kathleen Schwalbach.

Modern chorus—Beatrice Brackob, Mildred Christenson, Janet Kelly, Dora Smith, Dorothy Pinkowsky.

Tourists—Martha Rudolph, Laverne Schoenike, Nellie Bauer, Rosemary Schwalbach, Hazel Nelson, Rose Hoffman, Jane Donley, Eunice Eich, Mary Jean Topp, Jean Eberhardt, Rojane Milbauer, Lowell Walsh, Raymond Krussack, J. Rohlinger, Justin Schmiedekne, Harold Heuer, Stanley Fuch, Theodora Joswiak, Kenneth Kiehofer, Franklin Schauder, Lester Boek.

Masqueraders—Opal Below, Esther Binder, Ruth Milbauer, Lucille Rohlfinger, Teresa Hoffman, Roland Christenson, John Pinkowsky, Clarence Piehl, Robert Winkler.

Alan O'Day, a wealthy Easterner, desires the hand of Sandy Bank in marriage. Sandy rejects him because her mother, Lettie Bank, so shamelessly favors the match on account of Alan's money. In an effort to forget Sandy, Alan goes West to his ranch, which he converts into a tourist camp.

Lettie Bank, not to be thwarted, takes her husband and Sandy and follows Alan. Her excuse for the venture being that she wishes to live in the West and regain her health. The little party camps on some land adjoining Alan's ranch, which turns out to be some very valuable oil land owned by Geraldine Bank, a niece, Geraldine, know as Jerry, fearing arrest by the police whose station she demolished with aunt's automobile, hires out to Alan as a helper to hide her identity.

John Drayton, Alan's cousin, wishing to locate Jerry for the purpose of buying her land for a syndicate of which he is a member, hires Hunter, a detective, to assist him. When he finds that Hunter is cheating so as to get the land for himself, he discharges him.

Mimi, a friend of John's locates Jerry at the ranch. John and Jerry form an attachment for each other, but through a twist of circumstances Jerry is led to believe that John and Mimi are trying underhandedly to acquire her land at a profit for themselves. At a masquerade she denounces them and leaves. The next morning it is discovered that Jerry, Sandy and Hunter have disappeared; also a Mr. Bean from Boston.

Later Sandy returns and tells that Hunter, thinking she was Jerry, forced her into his car, but finding his mistake, left her in the road, and followed Mr. Bean and Jerry to Jericho. When Jerry and Mr. Bean return, she announces that she has given him an option on her land until her papers arrive from home; but, if by that time oil has not been found, she intends to sell the land to Hunter at his price.

Later when she is about to dispose of the land to Hunter, she learns that in the spring before, a gusher had been brought in, and had been capped awaiting her decision to sell, and that in some way Hunter had discovered the fact. She also learns that Mr. Bean is president of John's syndicate and that Mimi is his wife, and that their efforts from the first have been to protect her interest.

All ends happily as Alan and Sandy forgive and forget; and Jerry, thoroughly ashamed, promises never to do it again.

DIDN'T HURT HER

New York—Some people can fall a foot and break both legs and others can fall a mile and still smile. "Hill's Gerbers," three and a half grains old, recently fell out of a third-story window and didn't get a scratch. Her mother had placed some pillows on a window sill and the little girl climbed up on them and slid out the window.

KOHLER TO LIMIT NUMBER OF TALKS

New Governor Feels That Duties of His Office Demand More Attention

Madison—(P)—Governor Walter J. Kohler intends to cut down on the number of addresses and calls that are a part of the Governor's "duties-by-precedent."

The executive has been receiving scores of invitations weekly to come to this or that convention or meeting, aid in dedications, and attend other formalities. Many of these he has felt that he should accept because the people have a right to demand that he be seen and heard occasionally, but the governor is said to feel that in the interests of furthering his office work he should stay in Madison as much as possible.

Some of those who have been anxious to have the governor before their societies or associations have sent invitations several months in advance. He is anxious that those who invite him to appear before their meetings will not feel an affront in his refusal and will know that it is not because he does not wish to talk before their groups.

Gov. Kohler is known to derive a certain element of pleasure in appearing before crowds and in diagnosing their acceptances of his addresses. But he feels that the duties of his office demand more attention than gratification of this pleasure and that which his advisors have in hearing him.

Madison—(P)—When one house of the legislature "adjourns" or the motion is for adjournment only, it means that the Assembly or Senate, as the case may be, is adjourning until 10 a. m. the following day. If adjournment is for introduction of bills, any other hour or day, the motion must be worded accordingly. Generally at Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday adjournments the motion is simply, "I move we do now adjourn." But on Fridays there is generally a number of amendments to the motion to adjourn until the following Tuesday, many of the legislators having different desires about going home over the weekend, and working under different train schedules. Neither house can adjourn for more than three days without the consent of the other.

Madison—(P)—Members of the legislature have been warned, especially the Assemblymen, that next Wednesday, Feb. 13, at midnight, will be the last minute for introduction of bills. After that, however, a member can bring a bill before either house by asking and receiving unanimous consent of that house, or by having one of the committees introduce it.

OSAKA IS GREATEST CITY IN THE ORIENT

Osaka, Japan—(P)—Osaka, the industrial center of the empire, has retained its place as Japan's largest city.

The latest government estimates show the western metropolis holding the lead which it took from Tokyo when the capital was wrecked by the 1923 earthquake.

The figures are Osaka, 2,332,569, and Tokyo, 2,218,400.

The two cities thus rank far ahead of any in the Orient, and the Japanese press claims for them sixth and seventh places respectively among the cities of the world, behind London, New York, Berlin, Paris and Chicago. Recent figures, however, show that Buenos Aires, Philadelphia and Moscow all would contest this claim.

A feature of the 1928 figures is the rapid advance of Osaka—a booming industrial center which has 570,000 inhabitants and is growing at the rate of more than 50,000 a year. Next in order come Kyoto, Kobe and Yokohama, all over the half million mark.

Good for Children Who Are Pale, Puny

Mother and Dad—have you a pale, thin, run-down child in your family? You can't say the young one is seriously sick, but somehow he never seems to have the strength and energy to play like other kids. LATIN AMERICA TAKES TIP FROM U. S. ON TARIFF

Protection Walls in Those Countries Compare Favorably With Ours in Height

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

(Copyright, 1929, NEA Service, Inc.)

Washington—Latin America has taken tariff lessons from the United States. Her republics have built up tariff walls which compare favorably in height with our own.

Nevertheless the percentage of their goods which enter our ports free of duty is much greater than the duty-free percentage of our exports to them. The reason is that we buy their raw materials and sell to them our manufactured products.

Of course the higher the duties the greater the restriction of trade. Our manufacturers often complain at South American tariff barriers, but in view of our own policy the most the United States government can ask anywhere is an even break.

Our policy has been to obtain most favored nation treaties or similar agreements assuring us of an equal chance with European nations in Latin American markets. We don't negotiate reciprocity treaties or swap favors.

Latin American republics have it in their power to damage the United States by according preferential tariffs to European products, but that is rather unlikely because most of them look to us for their big export market and their exports are now so often duty free. Their tariff policies are also tempered by realization that their exchanges, so important to their economic welfare, are affected by international trade balances.

Meanwhile, manufactured goods from the United States sell at high prices all through Latin America and we have continued, thus far, to strengthen our position in the import trade. Despite high tariffs the well-to-do Latin Americans tend to favor the imported article whenever it is superior to the domestic product.

Nearly everywhere the primary purpose of tariff is revenue. Infant industries are developing, especially in Argentina and Brazil, but the customs revenues are vitally important throughout the Latin republics. The question of the benefits of this condition is arguable. It is far easier for a government much simpler than establishing a tax administration and also less arduous or

EBERT & CLARK

EXPERTS TO DECIDE HOW MUCH GERMANY CAN PAY TO ALLIES

Must Decide How Much Germany Can Be Squeezed Out of Reparations

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
(Copyright, 1929, NEA Service, Inc.)
Washington — Representatives of the world powers will meet soon in Europe to decide how much can be squeezed out of the reparations—debts situation without killing the goose that lays the golden eggs.

Germany, of course, is the nation to do the paying, and the allied nations are the ones who are trying to find out just how much Germany can pay without wrecking herself. This figure, whatever it may be, must then be contrasted with the figure the allies have set as their goal, and the two must be harmonized somehow.

The United States has no money in particular coming from Germany, but Owen D. Young and J. Pierpont Morgan will be there, nevertheless, to protect the United States' interests. For the nations to whom Germany owes reparations are the nations which owe the United States billions in war debts. The more these nations get out of Germany the more they will pay the United States—and, conversely, the less they get, the less they will pay.

GERMANY MUST PROSPER
The most important factor which this new gathering of experts must bear in mind is the necessity of maintaining Germany as a going concern.

Next August Germany will have paid since the war a minimum total of $4,500,000,000. The exact figure hasn't been determined. The reparations commission has credited $2,500,000,000 on its books as paid by Germany prior to payments under the Dawes plan. This year's payments will bring the Dawes plan payments to $2,000,000,000.

The $2,500,000,000 was delivered in the period between the signing of the treaty of Versailles and the experts' meeting which produced the Dawes plan. It includes payments in cash and in kind, credit for government property in ceded territory and gross receipts from the French occupation of the Ruhr.

Germans, however, have estimated the value of her pre-Dawes payments as high as $1,000,000,000. Counting in the loss of her colonies and other territory, along with other post-war losses to the allies not considered in connection with reparations, Dr. Max Sering, professor of political science at the University of Berlin, estimates that Germany has made a war compensation of $50,000,000,000.

THIRTY-ONE BILLION DOLLARS
In 1921 the reparations commission set Germany's total reparations liability at $131,000,000,000. By military threat, it forced Germany to accept unconditionally a schedule of payments involving eventual issue of $131,000,000,000 worth of bonds at 5 per cent.

Germany set aside a treaty obligations budget and undertook to proceed. For lack of revenue her financial structure broke. As the government inflated currency to meet its budget, the mark went to pot and late in 1922 the French marched into the Ruhr. Since the mark was almost entirely valueless and the French were learning that their occupation was costing more than they could squeeze from the coal mines and other natural resources within their grasp.

The golden goose was deathly sick and the rest of Europe was also threatened with financial collapse. The United States stood to lose heavily in any general debacle, which would involve the billions we had in government and private loans to Europe. Late in 1922 Secretary of State Hughes made his famous New Haven speech proposing the experts' committee.

A year later the reparations commission had worked out the details. The committee of experts, to which we assigned Young and Charles G. Dawes for the purpose of dominating the proceedings, made recommendations to the commission which were adopted in August, 1924.

This program, known as the Dawes plan, provided a rising schedule of payments for the first five years, from $250,000,000 in 1925 to $600,000,000 in 1929. It also made what provisions it could to see that neither Germany or the machinery would break down again. The money for the Dawes payments has come from the state-owned loan, a transport tax, German industries and budget assessments. From the payments France takes 52 per cent, England 22, Italy 10 and Belgium 8. Meanwhile Germany has thrived, meeting the payments and experiencing an economic revival unduplicated elsewhere in Europe. She is still faced, however, with the need of maintaining an exports balance which will enable her to continue paying.

CAPACITY TO PAY
It has not been proved that she can continue to pay $600,000,000 a year. Her capacity to pay still remains one of the toughest problems for the allies and the United States to decide.

The forthcoming conference must decide first the total sum to be demanded from Germany. Neither the Dawes plan experts or anyone else has made any revision of the original demand of $131,000,000,000. Everyone concedes that new determination of a definite sum and its terms of payment are now essential for financial liquidation of the war. Officially we don't admit that war debts to us are connected with reparations. Privately everyone admits it. Hence it appears now that the reparations sum will be fixed at whatever the allies have to pay the United States plus fixed sums of indemnity for France and Belgium. Owen D. Young may initiate the conference. S. Parker Gilbert, reparations agent in Berlin, may also play a big part. Some agreement is bound to be reached, for we want to collect what we can and our financial position is so strong as to command Europe's cooperation. It has been suggested that it will be-

ARDOR IS LOST IN VALENTINES OF PRESENT DAY

Madison —(AP)—Valentines, like all "favorite sports" have gradually become more commercialized until now the love-note 1775 to 1875, personally drawn and inscribed, is almost entirely missing, except among school children. Children E. Brown, director of the state historical museum, makes this finding, after studying valentines of that and subsequent periods.

And with the loss of the personal touch in the greeting cards, Mr. Brown has found loss of some of the ardor that made the old Valentine a real message of love.

Most of the Valentines before 1800 in the collection in the museum were written with ink on ordinary paper. Some of them consisted of sentimental verses and free hand drawing.

A typical inscription on an 18th century Valentine was addressed to Miss Janet Gorrie, later a resident of Sauk county, Wis. Two hearts joined together decorated the ruled paper on which the artist wrote his tender words. It reads: "Nor will my heart take any ease. Until our hearts be joined like these; Or if you do my heart disdain Theirs' might but death will ease my pain."

From 1800 on there has been a gradual evolution of the Valentine until the latter part of the 19th century and the early part of the present period when their use waned.

ter business for us to accept a cash value on the debts rather than take a chance on collecting, under present agreements, over a period of 62 years. A dollar in hand is recognized to be far more valuable than a dollar payable 50 years hence—either a reparations dollar or a debts dollar.

CASH SETTLEMENT
The reparations conference may do no more than fix the present "cash value" of reparations and provide for a great German bond issue, but it is expected to do so on the basis of being able to make a cash settlement of the same sort with us. It has been computed that the present "cash value" of Allied debts to us is about $5,000,000,000.

Commercializing German reparations into bonds would have the effect of putting the international investing public rather than the various governments in the position of holding the bag. Germany would still be in debt, but not with a gun at her head. Meanwhile, if we were paid off, war debts would no longer be a source of international friction.

The problem of marketing the bonds may prove a difficult one; that's one reason why Morgan has been sent.

Whatever program the conference adopts is likely to have a profound effect on European history.

No More Gas In Stomach and Bowels

If you wish to be permanently relieved of gas in stomach and bowels, take Bismarck's Gas Tablets, which are prepared especially for stomach gas and all the bad effects resulting from gas pressure.

ELECT 4 BEST-LOVED GIRLS AT LAWRENCE

An election to select the four best-loved senior girls of Lawrence college was held at convocation Monday. The results of the election will be kept a secret until the annual Colonial banquet which will be held Feb. 21, under auspices of the campus Y. W. C. A.

A change from the traditional banquet which was begun in 1924, is being instituted this year. The banquet which was begun in 1924, is being held at Conway hotel. There will be no Y. M. C. A. elections or reports at the dinner as has been done in previous years, and it will be entirely in honor of the four girls chosen.

Miss Dorothy Bethurum, associate professor of English will be the principal speaker of the evening and a new toast to the honored will be given. A contest is being held at the present time for words for the toast.

Helped at Change of Life

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a wonderful medicine at the Change of Life. I would get blue spells and just walk the floor. I was nervous, could not sleep at night, and was not able to do my work. I know if it had not been for your medicine I would have been in bed most of this time and had a big doctor's bill. If women would only take your medicine they would be better."—Mrs. Anna Weaver, R. F. D. No. 2, Rose Hill, Iowa.

Daily Lenten Thought

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Nothing could better symbolize the way in which Christianity seeks to make all things new and the transformations that Christ effects, than the names associated with this holy season.

"Lent" and "Easter" are not words of Christian origin. They come to us from Pagan Anglo-Saxon times. In Old English, lenten meant spring and Lent comes from the same root as such words as "long," "lengthy," etc. Lent was the time of lengthening days and in this time of spring a festival was held in honor of Oestre, the goddess of the season.

Instead of abolishing old words and old customs Christianity took them over and gave them a new significance. The symbolism of springtime with its lengthening and warming days and its revival of life after the coldness and gloom of winter became inevitably associated with the redemptive mission of Christ and His renewing power in the individual life and in human society.

That power of Christ is as eternal as the spring. Its laws and provisions of blessing for the soul are as immutable as the revival of nature that ensures sustenance for the body. It is Christ that makes Lent, the springtime, a holy season; the lengthening days are sanctified by all that He is and all that He has done.

STUDENT CONFERENCE ON POLICY CALLED

Milwaukee —(AP)—To afford students of the high schools and opportunity to acquire background for an intelligent understanding of American Foreign Policy and to create an interest in America's foreign affairs a student conference on Foreign Relations will be held by the Milwaukee high schools to which representatives from out-state schools are invited. The conference will be held Feb. 22 and 23 at the Roosevelt Junior High. The conference will open with a dinner Friday night when Pierre de Lanux, French author and scholar will speak. De Lanux was for three years secretary of the Nouvelle Revue Française, was a French war correspondent in the Balkans in 1912, 1913, 1914 and was sent to the United States on an official mission during the war. Later he was a member of the French high commission in the United States. He was on the staff of Andre Tardieu during the Paris peace conference. Appropriate services at the dinner will commemorate Washington's birthday. Other speakers are Pitman Potter, professor at the University of Wisconsin, and J. Duncan Clark, editor of the Chicago Evening Post.

POPULAR AUTHOR TURNS HER TALENT TO MYSTERY WRITING

Anne Austin author of "Saint and Sinner" and of several other sensational serial successes, has turned to the detective-mystery story for her latest serial.

"The Black Pigeon," which begins in the Appleton Post-Crescent today, is Miss Austin's first venture into this particular field of fiction, and the story is one of the most mystifying thrillers ever produced.

Before she turned to fiction writing, Anne Austin spent several years in newspaper work, during which time she was called upon to "cover" a number of big murder trials. She has had her share of police reporting and she is familiar with police methods.

"The Black Pigeon," which is to be brought out in book form immediately after its newspaper publication, is the story of a murder which will keep you guessing from start to finish. It combines romance with thrills and carries with it an interesting love story.

Anne Austin will be remembered as the author of such serial successes as "Daughters of Midas," "The Penny Princess" and "Girl Alone," in addition to her ever-popular "Saint and Sinner." "The Black Pigeon" is destined to take its place among the big mystery thrillers of 1929. Be sure to read it today in the Post-Crescent.
